RUMANIA CAPITULATES TO AXIS ULTIMATUM

Nazi Planes Renew Assault Against London Outskirts

MORE THAN HALF OF TRANSYLVANIA TO BE YIELDED TO HUNGARY

Vienna, Aug. 30. (A.P.)—Rumania today yielded more than half of Transylvania to Hungary through the arbitration of Germany and Italy.

Final negotiations to end the long territorial dispute between the Balkan neighbors were conducted in the ornate, octagonal gold room of Belvedere Palace this afternoon.

There still was no indication whether an exchange of populations would be undertaken.

Both the German and Italian foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, read similar statements explaining the purposes of the negotiations.

Von Ribbentrop said the negotiations had been conducted "impartially," that the outcome was just and that it would bring lasting friendly relations between Hungary and Rumania.

Besides Ribbentrop and Ciano, chief figures at the conference were Rumanian Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu, Hungarian Premier Count Pal Teleky and Hungarian Foreign Minister Count Istvan Csaky.

By The Associated Press

Bucharest, Aug. 30. (A.P.)—Rumania announced today she had accepted an Axis ultimatum in negotiations for a cession of part of Transylvania to Hungary, and reliable reports said she had received in return a promise that German troops would come speedily to help defend her troubled Russian frontier.

While the government's communique did not say outright she had agreed to cede part of Transylvania, it did declare that "as a result of the ultimate demand of Germany and Italy, Rumania has decided to accept arbitration on the Transylvanian question."

It was reliably reported here that "arbitration" would involve a loss of more than half of the 55,000 square mile province with its 3,500,000 people.

Threat of an immediate Soviet invasion as a consequence of a Hungarian attack backed by the Axis forced the early morning capitulation to the four-power conference at Vienna where Rumania reportedly was told German motorized columns and air force were ready to move at a moment's notice if the demand for a part of Transylvania was ignored.

But as part of a secret agreement now being made at Vienna, it was reported reliably, German troops will be sent immediately to guard Rumania's new frontier with Soviet Russia.

Besides a Hungarian invasion, backed by Germany, and the possibility Russia would decide to move in from the north and east in event of conflict, Rumania also feared the possibility Bulgaria would act from the south, they said.

Late this afternoon the Rumanian populace still knew nothing of the monumental decision except what they had heard in gossip.

This communique was announced after an answer had been received to Rumania's decision from Vienna where the German, Italian, Rumanian and Hungarian foreign ministers and other statesmen were holding a four-power conference.

A reply to Rumania's acceptance is expected by midafternoon from Vienna where the German and Italian Foreign Ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, have been conferring with Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu of Rumania and Premier Count Pal Teleky and Foreign Minister Count Istvan Csaky of Hungary.

Then the Rumanian Crown Council will meet to clinch the agreement.

An authoritative account of the all-night palace conferences in which telephone contact was maintained with Vienna and a parade of leaders consulted with King Carol, said that at one stage Rumania was told she must make her decision within five minutes.

At 12:14 a. m. this story said, Foreign Minister Manoilescu, with German Foreign Minister Ribbentrop sitting beside him, telephoned that he had been given five minutes in which to get a definite acceptance. (Turn to Page Eleven)

Candidates Stress Dictatorship Perils

By the Associated Press
Henry A. Wallace and Wendell L. Willkie, in remarks calculated to win support for their opposing causes, have seized alike on the perils of dictatorship as a talking point in their appeals.

Wallace, formally accepting the Democratic vice presidential nomination at Des Moines last night, declared:

"Powerful elements in our opposition will, if the Republicans come into power, force us to make one economic concession after another to the totalitarian countries. . . dictators have definite designs against this hemisphere."

Willkie, talking to reporters, denounced as "potential dictatorship" a section of the Senate-approved conscription bill permitting the government to take over certain plants needed for defense.

Republican Presidential Nominee Denounces as "Revolutionary" Section Of Senate-Approved Bill Permitting Taking Over Of Industries

ROOSEVELT COMMENT

By THEODORE F. KOOP

Rushville, Ind., Aug. 30. (A.P.)—Calling on President Roosevelt to state his own views, Wendell L. Willkie has denounced as "revolutionary" a section of the Senate-approved conscription bill permitting the government to take over certain plants needed for defense.

"It may be that the American people want to socialize and Sovietize our system of free enterprise," the Republican presidential nominee told reporters yesterday.

"If they do, that is all right, but that is one of the fundamental issues of the campaign and I want to debate it."

Willkie made this comment as he issued a 1,100-word statement criticizing the Overton-Russell amendment to the conscription measure. He said the amendment would let the government operate a plant whenever the secretary of war or navy could not reach an agreement with the owner.

After issuing his statement, Willkie listened by radio to the speech of Henry A. Wallace accepting the Democratic vice-presidential nomination.

Asked for comment on the assertion of the former agriculture secretary that the Republican party "is the party of appeasement," Willkie said:

"There can't be anything more wrong than 100 percent wrong, can there?"

In terms of the Overton-Russell amendment to the conscription bill, an issue of "momentous importance," Willkie said:

"I put this up to the president now and I hope that he does not answer with any quip about how 'the party of appeasement'."

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 30. (A.P.)—Accepting the Democratic vice-presidential nomination, former Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace told a cheering crowd last night that the American people "would not turn their backs on the man that Hitler wants to see defeated."

"President Roosevelt has become the symbol of democracy particularly to the nations of North and South America," the native Iowan said, "and he has predicted that a Republican victory in November would result in a return to the policy of appeasement."

EXCESS PROFITS TAX BILL FACES FIGHT IN SENATE

Opposition to Legislation Adopted in House Is Reported in Finance Committee Where Members Are Hinting at Even Stiffer Levies

AIMED AT WAR INCOMES

Washington, Aug. 30. (A.P.)—The excess profits tax bill, which whisked through the House in less than four hours, went to the Senate today where signs pointed to considerably less speed and a possible overhauling.

Opposition to the bill was reported in the finance committee, where Senator La Follette (D-Wis.) already was talking of even stiffer taxes than the 30 percent levies of from 20 to 30 percent provided for by the House.

The House gave its approval to the complex measure yesterday, passage coming on a vote of 375 to 10.

It would end the "holocaust" of tax uncertainty on defense contracts, and at the same time prevent the amassing of huge "war profits."

Besides the imposition of a 20 percent tax on war profits, the bill would also provide for a 30 percent tax on war incomes.

TRAINING MEASURE ASSAILED

Both Republican and Democratic Leaders Insist Peacetime Conscription Bill Will Win With Smashing Margin in Spite Of Attack Incorporated In Eight-Man Minority Report Describing it as "Dangerous and Unnecessary"

ACTUAL DEBATE TO GET UNDER WAY TUESDAY

By the Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 30. (A.P.)—Pre-debate skirmishing opened up in the House today on the peacetime conscription bill, with foes assailing it as "unnecessary" and its advocates predicting that it would ride through to overwhelming approval by the end of next week.

The attack was incorporated in an eight-man minority report filed on the revised version of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training measure, which was approved yesterday by a majority of the members of the house military committee.

Actual debate is scheduled to start Tuesday on the House bill, which differs in one vital particular from that passed by the Senate. The House measure would require male citizens from 21 to 44 to register for possible service, whereas the Senate age bracket was 21 to 30. Leaders saw a hot fight in the offing on the age question.

The minority report attack on the Burke-Wadsworth bill declared that "this proposal and others inevitably to follow to conscript man power, conscript the farmers, conscript industry, conscript labor to run industry and conscript the wealth of the nation is not only unnecessary at this time to adequate defense of the country, but that it is a distinct and dangerous departure which will lead ultimately to the destruction of the American form of government in a totalitarian, military economy."

TWO AMERICAN MISSIONARIES KILLED IN EGYPT

Italian Machine-Gunning of Isolated Post in the Sudan Is Described as "Deliberate" in Governor General's Announcement

OTHERS ARE INJURED

Cairo, Aug. 30. (A.P.)—The governor general of the Sudan announced today that two American missionaries were killed and two wounded by "deliberate" Italian machine-gunning of an isolated mission post in the Sudan.

The mission post is a British-Italian Sudanese joint project, an officer appointed by Egypt with British assent. Administration, however, is carried out through British district commissioners.

The large territory, just south of Egypt, has been under repeated Italian attack, particularly on the eastern frontier near Gallabat, opposite Ethiopia, and Kassala, opposite Eritrea.

The governor's report said that two Italian planes attacked Dor, an isolated station of the Sudan interior mission, in upper Nile province about 55 miles southwest of Kordofan, Aug. 23.

At least 30 bombs were dropped and then the Italian fliers used their machine-guns, the report said.

Of the staff of five persons, it said, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Grieve were killed and Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Oglesby were wounded.

Rome, Aug. 30. (A.P.)—Renewed air bombardment of the British Mediterranean island naval base of Malta and bombing of British troops concentrations in Kenya colony were reported today by the Italian High Command.

A band of native Somali bandits were reported to have inflicted serious losses on British forces in a sudden attack toward Bumar.

Meanwhile troops and Red Cross workers searched today for possible additional victims of an explosion in a Bologna munitions factory which killed at least 10 persons and injured many others last night.

A second communique, issued by the Air and Home Security Ministries, said the Germans came over in three successive waves and were "scattered and driven back."

Coming over in formations of 15 to 20 planes, the Germans ran into a solid wall of anti-aircraft fire and swarming fighters protecting London following early morning attacks on the great industrial northwest, including the textile center of Manchester.

The attack on the northwest, one of the heaviest of the war, was coupled with others on the south coast, the Midlands and South Wales. Many persons were killed and injured in these forays.

The Air Ministry communique announcing the results of the morning raid was issued from the Ministry of Information's special deep shelter press room during the second raid.

Dog fights, however, still were going on between a few German planes which remained, and fresh ones. (Turn to Page Eleven)

FARLEY BIDS CAPITAL ASSOCIATES FAREWELL

Washington, Aug. 30. (A.P.)—James A. Farley was saying his official farewells in the national capital today, but was still as quiet as a mouse about his successor as postmaster general.

His resignation from the cabinet to enter private business is effective tomorrow.

Farley recently was of the opinion that Frank O. Walker, New York lawyer and theatre owner and former Democratic national committee treasurer, would take his place in the post office department, but he would not say today whether the situation had changed since he talked with President Roosevelt last Friday.

The chief executive said then he would pick a successor in a few days.

Harrisburg, Aug. 30. (A.P.)—start at once—saving months of valuable time, so vital in the present emergency, but which would be wasted if the defense program waits for the construction of new plants, as proposed in Washington.

Utilization of present buildings would also eliminate "a fresh crop of idle and useless industrial buildings" when the present emergency has passed, Brown pointed out.

INVADERS REPORTED REPULSED

British Fighters and Anti-Aircraft Defenses Turn Back Wave After Wave Of German Bombers, Numbering 400 in All, Trying to Break Through Toward Capital Area for Third Time in Five Hours

FOLLOWS A BREATHING SPELL DURING NIGHT

London, Aug. 30. Furious dog fights raged high in the skies over London today as waves of German bombers, some of them dropping bombs in dive attacks upon the outskirts, struck again and again at the British capital.

Three air raid alarms kept the city running to and from air raid shelters from just before noon until nearly 6 p. m. (noon, EST), when the clear signal of the last alarm sounded.

The first two waves—perhaps 400 in all—were turned back after fierce battles.

But in the last attack, the sound of dive bombers could be heard at a distance in the outskirts, and the sounds of motors indicated there were large numbers of them.

The gunfire over one suburban area was described as "terrific" by some eyewitnesses as one German bomber was shot down over the London area with two British fighters in hot pursuit.

Unofficial reports said that at least four enemy planes had been brought down over the London area today.

The clear signal sounded over the London area at 5:48 p. m. (11:48 a. m., EST).

Before the alarm was sounded British fighters had turned back wave upon wave of bombers—probably 400 in all—striking directly at London.

An hour before the afternoon alarm sounded air battles were reported over southeastern England, where the raiders were trying to cross over another section.

While the battle still raged, the Air Ministry issued this communique:

"Reports received up to 2 p. m. (8 a. m., EST) show that 19 enemy aircraft are known to have been shot down. Six of our own aircraft have been lost but the pilot of one is safe."

(The Berlin radio reported 30 British planes shot down over England and only six German planes lost.)

During the first raid battles raged from the outskirts of the London area all the way to the coast.

A second communique, issued by the Air and Home Security Ministries, said the Germans came over in three successive waves and were "scattered and driven back."

Coming over in formations of 15 to 20 planes, the Germans ran into a solid wall of anti-aircraft fire and swarming fighters protecting London following early morning attacks on the great industrial northwest, including the textile center of Manchester.

Red Army and Navy Both Participating In Secret Maneuvers

Moscow, Aug. 30.—(P)—The Russian navy has begun maneuvers, with submarine flotillas scouting theoretical enemy bases so as to permit the surface fleets to take the open sea for mock battle, Red Fleet, the navy's organ, announced today. The locale was not disclosed.

The sham battles were announced as the Red Army also conducted maneuvers in unspecified parts of Russia.

Despite these military and naval activities, however, some diplomatic sources attributed recent events on the Rumanian border to nervousness and expressed the belief the situation was not grave.

It was reported here that four Rumanians were the only dead from these incidents on the frontier in Bucovina.

A mixed commission of six, including a general, a colonel and a foreign office representative on each side, has been named and is expected to meet soon in Moscow to start a definite demarcation of the frontier.

Diplomatic sources said Rumania gave an order to her frontier guards to cease firing in order to keep the peace during territorial negotiations with her other neighbors.

Nevertheless the Soviet had warned Rumania demanded an "early and satisfactory" reply to two protests.

The Red army troops trained in offensive tactics under observation by Marshal Semen Timoshenko, commissar of defense. (There was no indication that the "western" district was near the troubled Rumanian border.)

Under theoretical enemy fire, the Russian forces marched 30 miles and crossed a river while artillery laid a smoke screen, aviation provided protection and engineers built bridges in the realistic western operations.

Roosevelt Running Mate Notified

Henry A. Wallace is pictured above with Rep. Marvin Jones of Texas, who made the official notification of the nomination of the former secretary of agriculture as Democratic vice presidential candidate.

Washington, Aug. 30.—(P)—Pre-debate skirmishing opened up in the House today on the peace-time conscription bill, with foes assailing it as "unnecessary" and its advocates predicting that it would ride through to overwhelming approval by the end of next week.

The attack was incorporated in an eight-man minority report filed on the revised version of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training measure which was approved yesterday by a majority of the members of the house military committee.

Actual debate is scheduled to start Tuesday on the House bill, which differs in one vital matter, far from that passed by the Senate. The House measure would require male citizens from 21 to 44 to register for possible service, whereas the Senate age bracket was 21 to 30. Leaders saw a hot fight in the offing on the age question.

The minority report attack on the Burke-Wadsworth bill declared that this proposal and others inevitably to follow to conscript man power, conscript the farmers, conscript industry, conscript labor to run industry and conscript the wealth of the nation is not only unnecessary at this time to adequate defense of the country, but that it is a distinct and dangerous departure which will lead ultimately to the destruction of the American form of government in a totalitarian, military economy.

Former Secretary of Agriculture Says America Will Not "Turn Its Back On Man That Hitler Wants to See Defeated"

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 30.—(P)—Accepting the Democratic vice-presidential nomination, former Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace told a cheering crowd last night that the American people "would not turn their backs on the man that Hitler wants to see defeated."

"President Roosevelt has become the symbol of democracy particularly to the nations of North and South America," the native Iowan as he predicted that a Republican victory in November would result in a "turn to Page Eleven"

CALLS FOR THIRD TERM

By THEODORE F. KOOP

Rushville, Ind., Aug. 30.—(P)—Calling on President Roosevelt to state his own views, Wendell L. Willkie has denounced as "revolutionary" a section of the Senate-approved conscription bill permitting the government to take over certain plants needed for defense.

"It may be that the American people want to socialize and Sovietize our system of free enterprise," the Republican presidential nominee told reporters yesterday.

"If they do, that is all right, but that is one of the fundamental issues of the campaign and I want to debate it."

Willkie made this comment as he issued a 1,100-word statement criticizing the Overton-Russell amendment to the conscription measure. He said the amendment would let the government operate a plant whenever the secretary of war or navy could not reach an agreement with the owner.

After issuing his statement, Willkie listened by radio to the speech of Henry A. Wallace accepting the Democratic vice-presidential nomination.

Asked for comment on the assertion of the former agriculture secretary that the Republican party "is the party of appeasement," Willkie said:

"There can't be anything more wrong than 100 percent wrong, can there?"

In terms of the Overton-Russell amendment to the conscription bill an issue of "momentous importance," Willkie said:

"I put this up to the president now and I hope that he does not answer with any quip about how (Turn to Page Eleven)

WAR PRISONERS TO BE REMOVED

Les Verriers, French-Swiss Frontier, Aug. 30.—(P)—Informants declared today the German army of occupation is considering taking all French war prisoners from the occupied zone to Germany because of a growing conviction the war will continue at least through the winter.

More than 1,000,000 prisoners are involved, it was said.

The Germans would free these men in occupied territory but for the fear of sabotage and disorders, it was said, and the Vichy government is unequipped to care for them in the French zone not under occupation.

Furthermore, these sources said, some supplies earmarked for German occupying forces and troops preparing for the battle of Britain are being used for war prisoners because of the inability of French authorities to feed them properly.

While nation-wide radio hookups are being arranged for the addresses, presidential aides said they definitely would not be campaign speeches.

Mr. Roosevelt kept a regular day yesterday by visiting the Dutchess county fair at Rhinebeck. Crown Princess Martha of Norway and two of her three children went along.

Mrs. Gibson was slain Wednesday night after she had left her home to visit a neighbor. Her body was found yesterday morning stuffed under the steps of a back porch.

Police said the slayer used a four and one-half foot piece of iron pipe, formerly a fence support. After the attack he walked past foot putt on the 15th.

TWO MEN HELD IN MEDIA MURDER

Media, Aug. 30.—(P)—Two men were held in jail overnight for further questioning today by Media police in connection with the bludgeoning-slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth Gibson, 63-year-old widow.

Acting District Attorney Henry G. Sweeney said "there is every indication that this is a brutal sex murder. I cannot elaborate any further at the present time."

The official disclosed that two other men with police records for attacks on women are being sought.

SARAZEN TWO-UP ON SNEAD; HOGAN TRAILS

Hershey, Aug. 30.—(P)—Gene Sarazen was two up on Sam Snead at the end of 18 holes in their 36 hole quarter final match in the Professional Golfers Association championship today. Sarazen shot a 68, five under par, to Snead's 70.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden was four up over Paul Runyan when they went to lunch, gaining all his lead on the second nine where he won four of the first five holes.

Byron Nelson was also four up on Eddie Kirk of Framington, Mich.

Ralph Guldahl shot a 69 to stand two up on Ben Hogan at half way, coming back with a brilliant 33 on the back nine to take three holes from the leading money winner. Starting at the 11th, Guldahl shot four birdies in five consecutive holes, sinking a 15-foot putt on the 15th.

Son of North Warren Couple is Practicing in California Town

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Owens, of North Warren, have received word that their son, Dr. Raymond W. Owens, has recently taken over the office of the late Dr. Oran Newton at North of River, Calif., and hopes to establish a practice there, giving up the chances of a commission and assignment to navy duty.

A graduate and letter man in the class of 1928 of Warren High School, Dr. Owens was later graduated by the College of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linda, Calif., and served his internship in White Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles, graduating in 1938.

Besides this experience, he served a year in the Kern General Hospital, at the Kern County Hospital in his student days; several months as a physician's office in Santa Monica and eight months as medical officer in CCC camps near San Diego.

His wife is also a physician and a graduate of the same school as Dr. Owens. She has just completed a two-year internship in the Los Angeles County Hospital. In school and later she has devoted special attention to children's diseases and will engage in practice later with her husband.

Horse Show Tonight And Tomorrow Will Attract Big Crowd

The horse-pulling contest and the first night of the horse show was the principal attraction today at the Youngsville Fair which has had large crowds thus far and even greater ones expected.

Yesterday afternoon the children took over the grounds and enjoyed competitive sports. Russell Smith and Gerald Lyons took first and second in the smaller boys bicycle race with John Smith and Nick Manlic finishing in that order in the senior group.

Very fine booth exhibits were shown by Warren County Grangers with each group awarded a prize. First place was taken by the Freehold Grange and second by Brokenstraw. Eldred was third and Warren fourth.

The North Warren Troubadors played musical selections throughout the day and evening.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the annual horse show will be held and this feature will undoubtedly break attendance records.

REX BEACH NOVEL "FLOWING GOLD" AT LIBRARY THEATRE TODAY AND SAT.

"Flowing Gold" thrilling saga of life and love in the Texas oil fields opens at the Library Theatre today. The highly lauded Warner Bros. film transcription of Rex Beach's immortal novel stars John Garfield, Frances Farmer, and Pat O'Brien.

The new motion picture largely concerns itself with Johnny Blake, John Garfield's role, an iconoclastic young drifter doomed to the life of a fugitive after killing a man in self-defense. In his wanderings about the country he meets up with Hap O'Connor, played by Pat O'Brien. Hap's rough exterior hides a heart of gold, and he is extremely grateful to Johnny for the latter saves his life in a free-for-all brawl.

The rest of the story you will enjoy, also the Fall Fur Fashion show as presented by STEIN, The Woman's Shop on the stage tonight at 9 p. m.

REX BEACH NOVEL "FLOWING GOLD" AT LIBRARY THEATRE TODAY AND SAT.

"Flowing Gold" thrilling saga of life and love in the Texas oil fields opens at the Library Theatre today. The highly lauded Warner Bros. film transcription of Rex Beach's immortal novel stars John Garfield, Frances Farmer, and Pat O'Brien.

The new motion picture largely concerns itself with Johnny Blake, John Garfield's role, an iconoclastic young drifter doomed to the life of a fugitive after killing a man in self-defense. In his wanderings about the country he meets up with Hap O'Connor, played by Pat O'Brien. Hap's rough exterior hides a heart of gold, and he is extremely grateful to Johnny after the latter saves his life in a free-for-all brawl.

The rest of the story you will enjoy, also the Fall Fur Fashion show as presented by STEIN, The Woman's Shop on the stage tonight at 9 p. m.

GREAT ACTION PROGRAM STARTS SATURDAY AT THE COLUMBIA THEATRE

"Manhattan Heartbeat"

There are many fine young people like those depicted in "Manhattan Heartbeat" madly in love with no money to get married and 20th Century-Fox has made their typical, tender and understandable story into a grand picture, which opens tomorrow at the Columbia Theatre.

"Bad Man From Red Butte"

During production of "Bad Man From Red Butte," at the Columbia Theatre starting Saturday, Anne Gwynne, who appears opposite Johnny Mack Brown in the western drama, was made an honorary colonel of the American Legion. The title was bestowed on the red-haired Texas beauty by the Hollywood Post of the Legion in a colorful ceremony at the headquarters of the organization in the film capital.

Son of North Warren Couple is Practicing In California Town

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Owens, of North Warren, have received word that their son, Dr. Raymond W. Owens, has recently taken over the offices of the late Dr. Oran Newton at North of River, Calif., and hopes to establish a practice there, giving up the chances of a commission and assignment to navy duty.

A graduate and letter man in the class of 1928 of Warren High School, Dr. Owens was later graduated by the College of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linda, Calif., and served his internship in White Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles, graduating in 1938.

Besides this experience, he served a year in the Kern General Hospital; at the Kern County Hospital in his student days; several months in a physician's office in Santa Monica and eight months as medical officer in CCC camps near San Diego.

His wife is also a physician and a graduate of the same school as Dr. Owens. She has just completed a two-year internship in the Los Angeles County Hospital. In school and later she has devoted special attention to children's diseases and will engage in practice later with her husband.

Horse Show Tonight And Tomorrow Will Attract Big Crowd

The horse-pulling contest and the first night of the horse show was the principal attraction today at the Youngsville Fair which has had large crowds thus far and even greater ones expected.

Yesterday afternoon the children took over the grounds and enjoyed competitive sports. Russell Smith and Gerald Lyons took first and second in the smaller boys bicycle race with John Smith and Nick Manlic finishing in that order in the senior group.

Very fine booth exhibits were shown by Warren County Grangers with each group awarded a prize. First place was taken by the Freehold Grange and second by Brokenstraw. Eldred was third and Warren fourth.

The North Warren Troubadours played musical selections throughout the day and evening.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the annual horse show will be held and this feature will undoubtedly break attendance records.

MEMORIAL SERVICE
A special memorial service will be held Sunday evening at the Salvation Army Citadel in honor of the late Thomas H. Dyson. Many of his friends and relatives will attend the service which will begin at eight o'clock.

DEATH TRAP
The Franklin avenue crossing at Erie claimed another victim yesterday when the automobile of James O. Kauffman, 41, was struck by the New York-Chicago express of the Nickel Plate railroad, killing him. Three other persons met death at the crossing recently.

DIES AT CLEARFIELD
A. E. Leitzinger, 83, former councilman and head of the Leitzinger Brothers store at Clearfield, died yesterday. In 1938, church, service and civic groups voted him Clearfield's "All-time No. 1 citizen" in view of his activities in many community affairs.

STEEL IN UPSWING
Gains in iron and steel production and trade brought about an increase of 1.9 points in business activity in the Pittsburgh district last week, the University of Pittsburgh reports. Electricity power production, coal mining and originating freight shipments showed slight declines.

ENGINEERS IN DEMAND
Every civil and sanitary engineer graduated from the Pennsylvania State College during the past ten years has a job, the college reports. Frederick T. Mavis, head of the department of civil engineering, commented yesterday at the college the demand for graduates in his line has been keen.

APPLICATION APPROVED
The Public Utility Commission has approved a Pennsylvania railroad company application to alter the Enbridge street bridge over tracks of its Renovo division in Union City. The cost was estimated at $1,312, and the borough has agreed to pay $400. The railroad plans to remove the sidewalk over the bridge, and increase the width of the roadway from 14 to 18 feet.

AUTO SALES UP
A jump of nearly 100 percent in receipts of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles last month, as compared with July, 1939, reflects large increases in purchases of new passenger cars and trucks, Revenue Secretary William J. Hamilton, Jr., said today at Harrisburg. The increase in receipts amounted to $572,888. New car purchases totaling $1,095, and commercial vehicles purchases totaling $345, representing gains of 80 and 51 percent, respectively, over the corresponding month last year.

HELEN JEPSON INJURED
Helen Jepson, Metropolitan opera singer, native of Titusville, was cut on the arms in an automobile collision Tuesday near Santa Monica, Calif. At the time of the accident Miss Jepson was adjusting her hat and both arms, in front of her face, were cut by flying glass. With her chauffeur, Walter Dellera of New York, she took another automobile and drove to Santa Barbara, where she fulfilled an afternoon engagement. The occupant of the other car was not hurt, nor was Dellera.

MEMORIAL SERVICE
A special memorial service will be held Sunday evening at the Salvation Army Citadel in honor of the late Thomas H. Dyson. Many of his friends and relatives will attend the service which will begin at eight o'clock.

DEATH TRAP
The Franklin avenue crossing at Erie claimed another victim yesterday when the automobile of James O. Kauffman, 41, was struck by the New York-Chicago express of the Nickel Plate railroad, killing him. Three other persons met death at the crossing recently.

DIES AT CLEARFIELD
A. E. Leitzinger, 83, former councilman and head of the Leitzinger Brothers store at Clearfield, died yesterday. In 1938, church service and civic groups voted him Clearfield's "All-time No. 1 citizen" in view of his activities in many community affairs.

STEEL IN UPSWING
Gains in iron and steel production and trade brought about an increase of 1.9 points in business activity in the Pittsburgh district last week, the University of Pittsburgh reports. Electric power production, coal mining and originating freight shipments showed slight declines.

ENGINEERS IN DEMAND
Every civil and sanitary engineer graduated from the Pennsylvania State College during the past ten years has a job, the college reports. Frederic T. Mavis, head of the department of civil engineering, commented yesterday at the college the demand for graduates in his line has been keen.

APPLICATION APPROVED
The Public Utility Commission has approved a Pennsylvania railroad company application to alter the Benridge street bridge over tracks of its Renovo division in Union City. The cost was estimated at $1,312, and the borough has agreed to pay $400. The railroad plans to remove the sidewalk over the bridge, and increase the width of the roadway from 14 to 18 feet.

AUTO SALES UP
A jump of nearly 100 percent in receipts of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles last month, as compared with July, 1939, reflects large increases in purchases of new passenger cars and trucks. Revenue Secretary William J. Hamilton, Jr., said today at Harrisburg. The increase in receipts amounted to $572,888. New car purchases totaling 31,093, and commercial vehicles purchases totaling 3,345, representing gains of 80 and 51 percent, respectively, over the corresponding month last year.

HELEN JEPSON INJURED
Helen Jepson, Metropolitan opera singer, native of Titusville, was cut on the arms in an automobile collision Tuesday near Santa Monica, Calif. At the time of the accident Miss Jepson was adjusting her hat and both arms, in front of her face, were cut by flying glass. With her chauffeur, Walter Dellera of New York, she took another automobile and drove to Santa Barbara, where she fulfilled an afternoon tea engagement. The occupant of the other car was not hurt, nor was Dellera.

TO MOVE CHURCH

The Methodist church at Nebraska, Forest county, the once flourishing lumber town, is now being torn down and other sections with windows, doors and other sections that may be kept intact, will be taken to Grove City and rebuilt for worship of the Fundamental Presbyterian church of that community. With the completion of the Tionesta dam and flooding of the area, the community of Nebraska will be wiped out. The government paid the Methodist trustees $6,500 for the church, and the sale of the building netted $300. The money will be presented to the Tionesta Methodist church as an endowment fund.

THIS CARD'S NO GOOD
If you're carrying social security card number 0785-1120, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation wishes you'd tear it up, burn it—get rid of it, somehow. It's no good. small fine of two or three hundred dollars. Is it politics? Or is it just a group of men in this section of Warren county that think of nothing but themselves and the heck with the other fellow.

Yours truly,
C. K., Spring Creek.

Letters to the Editor

Spring Creek, August 28, 1940

Dear Sir:

Just a line or two about the poisoning of the Brokenstraw Creek. I have lived in this section ever since I was seven years old and will say it was the best fishing it has been in years. Another wonderful stream is poisoned and robbed of all fish life. Many days I have spent enjoying the beauty of this fine stream.

Small groups of people from Pittsburgh, New Castle, Kittanning and from many other cities have come to fish and camp along the Brokenstraw. It was an ideal stream for the local fisherman, the vacationist or the weekend camper. Now all is lost. Just on account of some brainless, unthinking man or group of men. The money we spent on fishing licenses—all gone. It will take years and years to bring it back to the stage it was this summer. Why is it a man or a woman caught fishing out of season, or with more than the limit of fish is fined heavily, yet a company or group of men can pollute so fine a stream and get by with it or with a very small fine compared to the fish killed.

The second stream poisoned this summer in Warren county—what is the use of a season or fish limit if people are permitted to dispose of fish life in this manner. If a farmer or common laborer catches a fish out of season our fish warden pounces on him, he is fined or thrown in jail. Also everybody reads in the paper Mr. so and so caught fishing out of season, had three small fish, fine $10 apiece and costs, amounting to about $55 for three small fish.

Now how come a company or group of men can kill tons and tons of fish, big and small, in season and out, and stand a chance to get off free or with just a

McKenney On Bridge

LET RULES GOVERN YOUR FIRST LEAD TO GUIDE PARTNER

This is the fifth of our series of articles showing that a good player can play better bridge.

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority

West's opening lead on Sunday was the time of trouble. Perhaps he thought this was the best card to lead from his hand. East or perhaps he was trying to be smart, but he only fooled his partner. East had the lead as "trump" and when dummy played the queen of hearts, there was a "sight" on the queen to be played.

Partner won with the jack and looked on the ace of diamonds. West had another heart, developed a club trick and won. East won a club trick and made three diamonds, three clubs and a heart and a spade.

How different if West had led the queen of hearts.

FREE AGAIN

York, Aug. 30—(AP)—George W. Pruitt, 48, Danville, Va., is free today for the first time since Aug. 17. Indicted yesterday morning on a manslaughter charge, Pruitt was acquitted during the afternoon and acquitted by a jury last night in one of the shortest homicide hearings in York county's history. Pruitt was charged in connection with the slaying of John Oliver, negro, Alexandria, Va., in a railroad boxcar fight.

ONE YEAR!

Willis Thornton, in an editorial written for NEA and the Times-Mirror, sums up the present world situation after twelve months of war in Europe, as follows:

Can it be only a year ago that the world's peace machinery thudded to complete breakdown, and war spread like an ugly blot over the face of Europe?
Can a single year have so changed the world?

Yes, only a year. On Sept. 1, 1939, Hitler's legions crossed the border into Poland. On the 3d Britain and France declared war, the effort to make Hitler draw back having proved useless. On the 10th Canada went in.

So short a time ago, and yet so long. We almost forget the spark that set it off. It was the argument over Danzig and the Polish corridor, a not insoluble problem which the slightest good will would have peaceably settled. The cause lay deeper, but the immediate spark was Danzig and the corridor.

Within a month Poland lay prostrate. Within two months the United States had repealed the embargo on arms that had been designed to keep war aloof. Within three months Russia had attacked Finland, and within three more had overpowered her.
The eighth month saw Norway and Denmark invaded and conquered. The ninth saw Belgium, Luxembourg, and The Netherlands invaded; the 10th saw the surrender of France and Italy's entrance into the war. The 11th month saw Russian seizure of the three Baltic states, and the final month of the year found England herself at death grips in defense of the island empire.

The same 12 months have seen the United States turn resolutely to arming itself and to building a water-tight dike of defense around the New World.
Sparks of war economy and psychology have leaped the ocean and burn brightly in the United States despite its unshaken resolution to keep clear of the European holocaust.

Perhaps never in history have such tremendous changes come in a single year. The tempo of human affairs has speeded up almost beyond understanding or endurance.

We do not know what another year will bring.
But we know it is no longer possible merely to float on these tremendous tides.

Defense against dynamic forces must be dynamic.
We have liberty to preserve, and a free way of life and living; so we must be strong. We have a future to build, the gateways to a brave new world to open;
so we must be wise.

TIMELY SUGGESTION

With a three-day holiday in the offing Secretary of Revenue William J. Hamilton, Jr., asks motorists who expect to travel on Pennsylvania's highways over Labor Day weekend to have their cars "safety-checked" before they leave; to start early; to drive carefully and to obey all the rules of the road.

That is wise and timely advice that should be followed by every Warren automobile owner anticipating a trip, for Mr. Hamilton points out that over the same three-day period last year there were 683 accidents on Pennsylvania's roads resulting in death to 23 persons and injuries to 674 others. In addition to those accidents, he says, there were 277 others which caused thousands of dollars damage to property.

Accidents on Pennsylvania's highways during this coming Labor Day weekend can be kept to a minimum if motorists will observe the cardinal principles of safety and obey the rules of the road, Mr. Hamilton points out.

You owe it to yourself and fellow motorists to give Mr. Hamilton 100 per cent cooperation in his endeavor to reduce the holiday toll.

Warren's young aviatrix, Pauline Green, is being given credit for doing a swell job by getting her plane down without getting hurt, even though the ship was almost a total wreck.

After listening to the political speeches this week one must admit that the political blitzkrieg is on.

'Bad News'

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—If any of you readers or your acquaintances are wondering about the Hatch act, which keeps all Federal full or part-time employees out of politics and otherwise makes a hazard of some objectionable tricks in the national political game, tip your hat to a man who is himself waging his biggest political campaign under the new rules and regulations.

He is John J. Dempsey. Friends
call him Jack. He's around 60.
He's white of hair and red of face, but he looks, acts and talks like a post-graduate athlete in his upper forties.

For six years he has been New Mexico's only representative in the House. Now he's campaigning for the snow-capped peaks above Raton Pass to the sandy bottoms of the Rio Grande for United States senator. (Incumbent Senator Dennis Chavez is his primary opponent.)

He's not the only man in politics who got there inadvertently, but he is one of the few. As a result of a long personal friendship with (and mutual admiration for) President Roosevelt, he was designated to set up the New Mexico recovery program in the hectic summer of 1933. A year later he dropped in on the New Mexico state Democratic convention and found himself nominated for the state's single seat in the lower house.

Succeeds With 100 Bills

FOR three terms he has been elected with clock-like regularity. He has seen 100 of his sponsored bills written into the statute books and has earned an enviable reputation for personal popularity.

That is not all. Dempsey's story is that of a man who emerged after years in the subways of New York City and won success in the wide open spaces.

Jack Dempsey was born in White Haven, Pa., near Wilkes-Barre. His first job—and he needed it—was waterboy with a Lehigh Valley railroad construction crew. His second was telegrapher for the same railroad. He taught himself the code.

At 19, he was tapping the keys

Made Fortune In Oil

YOU would think a fellow like that would stick by his guns.
But not J. Dempsey. He took his savings out to Oklahoma, where he again went in for underground stuff. This time it was oil. He pyramided his savings into a fortune.

When most men are just hitting their stride, Jack decided he had enough of the world's goods to compensate for the years of waterboy-ing and dot-dashing and he relocated to New Mexico. On a ridge above Santa Fe he built a rambling Spanish villa, with windows that run from floor to ceiling and a view that takes your breath away.

He spent more money on a water system (it had to be piped up from the valley) and gas and electricity than he did on his house.

Odds Were Against Him

JOVIAL and good-natured in social gatherings, Dempsey is as serious and hard-working in politics as he was in working his way up. When he started pumping steam into Hatch Act No. 2, the odds here were 10-to-1 that there wasn't a chance for this measure to take out of politics any workers partly paid from Federal funds. He fought it out of two committees and onto the House floor and when the final vote was in, the act was passed 243 to 122.

It was the 100th Dempsey-sponsored measure to become a law. With that mark, he arranged for pairing on the measures now before congress and went home to work for election to a seat on the other side of the capitol.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1920

A ten-room house is going to be given away as a climax to the celebration of Warren's 125th birthday during Old Home Week. The fine, big house at 504 Water street, the former residence of United States District Attorney John W. Dunkle, will be awarded some lucky person.

The Rev. W. C. Beck, of Evans
City, arrived town last evening and it is understood the base and other game fish in the Allegheny and Conewango immediately called a council of war upon learning that the pastor had arrived.

Plans for the Labor Day celebration in Warren are fast maturing. There will be four divisions in the parade with twenty different organizations.

The executive committee for Old Home Week announces today that Honorable William S. Kenyon,
United States Senator from Iowa, will be one of the speakers on

In 1930

With seventy-five different aircraft in attendance and over one hundred and fifty visiting pilots or manufacturers registered, the celebration in connection with the dedication of Warren's new airport may be stamped an unqualified success, in spite of inclement weather each of the three days.

But one thing served to mar the airport celebration program
Saturday, and that was the action of thousands of persons who chose to evade adding their financial support to the progressive enterprise, by viewing the entertainment from Pleasant township and other advantageous points outside the fenced in airport.

The Warren school board has decided to postpone the dedicatory exercises at the new Beatty building until Friday, September 12.
Public inspection will take place on Saturday, September 13.

Val Genge at the "mike" demonstrated what was known to many, that he is right at home as an announcer, during the airport dedication.

Joseph Massa left this morning for Edinboro, where he will enter the State Teachers' College.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

Here are five questions about leading figures in the sports world.
How many can you answer?

1. Among the leading pitchers in major leagues this season are Buck Newsom, Freddy Fitzsimmons, and Bob Feller. For what team does each play?
2. Rip Radcliff, Carvel Rowell, and Harry Danning are three of the leading hitters in the major leagues this year. For whom does each play?
3. What leading woman tennis player sometimes doubles as a night-club singer?
4. A leading college football coach has turned to professional football, starting with the 1940 season. Who is he?
5. Who owns the race horse

July found most of Europe stacked up against Great Britain as France's totalitarian government under Petain and Laval sided with its Nazi foster parent, and Rumania swung into the German orbit to guard against further aggression by Russia. Britain continued to stave off invasion by trading raid for raid with German bombers, destroying ports, air bases, fuel depots, factories and munitions stores. In the Mediterranean and Africa, she matched blows with Italy's fleet and Italian colonial forces. Russia continued expansion, absorbing three Baltic states, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, into the Soviet Union.

August 28, 1940

Dear Sir:

Just a line or two about the poisoning of the Brokenstraw Creek. I have lived in this section ever since I was seven years old and will say it was the best fishing it has been in years. Another wonderful stream is poisoned and robbed of all fish life. Many days I have spent enjoying the beauty of this fine stream.

Small groups of people from Pittsburgh, New Castle, Kittanning and from many other cities have come to fish and camp along the Brokenstraw. It was an ideal stream for the local fisherman, the vacationist or the weekend camper. Now all is lost. Just on account of some brainless, unthinking man or group of men. The money we spent on fishing licenses—all gone. It will take years and years to bring it back to the stage it was this summer. Why is it a man or a woman caught fishing out of season, or with more than the limit of fish is fined heavily, yet a company or group of men can pollute so fine a stream and get by with it or with a very small fine compared to the fish killed.

The second stream poisoned this summer in Warren county—what is the use of a season or fish limit if people are permitted to dispose of fish life in this manner. If a farmer or common laborer catches a fish out of season our fish warden pounces on him, he is fined or thrown in jail. Also everybody reads in the paper Mr. so and so caught fishing out of season, had three small fish, fine $10 apiece and costs, amounting to about $55 for three small fish.

Now how come a company or group of men can kill tons and tons of fish, big and small, in season and out, and stand a chance to get off free or with just a

BORO SCHOOLS ARE RE-OPENING NEXT TUESDAY

The 1940-41 Warren school term will begin next Tuesday, September 3.

F. W. Bathurst, principal of the high school, today reminded pupils that the opening roll call will be at 8:35 o'clock Tuesday morning, and that all new and re-entering students should be registered before noon tomorrow. It is not at all likely that the office will be able to take care of new registrations on the first day of school.

Pupils will be seated in home rooms as follows:
Seniors—208, 204, 203, 202, 201, 218, 217, 216.
Juniors—214, 213, 212, 211, 210, 104, 105, 110, 114.
Sophomores—109, 107, 111, 206, 112, 102.
New registrants and half-day pupils—108.
Rooms numbered in the 200's are on the second floor, rooms in the 100's on the first floor, and room 12 is in the basement at the foot of the west stairway.

TIMES TOPICS

NO ROTARY MEETING
Because of the Labor Day holiday there will be no meeting of the Warren Rotary Club Monday.

EAGLES PARTY
The Eagles will hold their regular Saturday night party tomorrow evening. These parties are for Eagles and their invited guests.

THIS CARD'S NO GOOD

If you're carrying social security card number 078-05-1120, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation wishes you'd tear it up, burn it—get rid of it, somehow. It's no good. The number has cropped up at least fifty times this year in connection with unemployment compensation claims, apparently because the bureau at Harrisburg explains, the claimant confused sample cards put out by a pocketbook firm, with their own.

small fine of two or three hundred dollars. Is it politics? Or is it just a group of men in this section of Warren county that think of nothing but themselves and the heck with the other fellow.

Yours truly,
C. K., Spring Creek.

This is the fifth of our series of articles showing that it does not pay to play poker bridge.

America's Card Authority

West's opening lead on today's hand was the nine of hearts. Perhaps he thought this was the correct card to lead from his holding, or perhaps he was trying to be smart, but he only fooled his partner. East read the lead as "top or nothing," and when dummy played low, so did East—there was no use in giving up the queen to be slaughtered.

Declarer won with the jack and knocked out the ace of diamonds. West led another heart, declarer won, gave up a club trick and made three diamonds, three clubs, two hearts and a spade.

the four of hearts! East would have gone up with the queen and won the trick, and would have returned the ten of spades. East and West would have the spade suit established while East still held the queen of clubs, and the contract would be set.

BEAR LAKE REUNION AND COMMUNITY PICNIC
(Written for the Times-Mirror)
The 25th Bear Lake school reunion and community picnic was held August 21 with about 200 present. Dinner was served on the school grounds after which the president, W. N. Wevers, rang the school bell calling all together for a program and business meeting.
The meeting was opened by the orchestra playing "America" and all joining in singing it. After this, Rev. Barrett offered prayer and a fine musical program was given.
All present officers were then re-elected as follows: President, W. N. Wevers, vice president, A. W. Perkins, Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Pinnie Perkins Cobb. Committees were also all retained.
The sports committee then took charge of many races and contests, with prizes, ending with a ball game between Panama and Bear Lake teams. The score after ten innings was 6-5 in favor of Bear Lake.

BEAR LAKE REUNION AND COMMUNITY PICNIC

(Written for the Times-Mirror)
The 25th Bear Lake school reunion and community picnic was held August 21 with about 200 present. Dinner was served on the school grounds, after which the president, W. N. Wevers, rang the school bell, calling all together for a program and business meeting.

The meeting was opened by the orchestra playing "America" and all joining in singing it. After this, Rev. Barrett offered prayer and a fine musical program was given.

All present officers were then re-elected as follows: President, W. N. Wevers; vice president, A. W. Perkins; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Pinnie Perkins Cobb. Committees were also all retained.

The sports committee then took charge of many races and contests, with prizes, ending with a ball game between Panama and Bear Lake teams. The score after ten innings was 6-5 in favor of Bear Lake.

STOMACH SEEMED TO BE FULL OF HOT SOUR FERMENTATIONS

Ackley, Pennsylvania, farmer says wonderful relief came after Vendol relieved constipation. Advises everyone to try famous medicine.

Mr. Charles J. Barney, well known farmer of Ackley, near Warren, Pennsylvania, says, "I had suffered from constipation for years, and this condition forced me to eat light meals but even what I ate caused 'heartburn', gas, shortness of breath, fiery acid risings, and sour stomach, and sometimes made me so nervous that I couldn't rest well."

"Reading what Vendol was doing for other suffering people all around here, I gave a trial and it relieved my constipation so well that now I can eat anything even fried foods, with no distress, nervousness, or headaches, and the dizzy spells are things of the past and I sleep like a healthy child. I feel so much better that I can't praise Vendol enough."

Vendol contains extracts of 12 Roots and Herbs mixed with valuable Alkalines, and due to this

JACKSON MAY DELIVER TALK AT DEMO RALLY

Democratic County Chairman C. Henry Nicholson stated today that plans for the large Rally to be held on Sunday, September 8th, at Wild Cat park, were progressing very rapidly, and that from all indications, a capacity crowd is anticipated.

Henry A. Wallace, vice-presidential candidate has been invited as the main speaker but today it was stated that it is doubtful that he will be able to appear and the committee is attempting to secure Attorney General Jackson, a native son of Warren county to head the speaker's list.

Other outstanding Democrats leaders who will appear at the picnic are United States Senator, Joseph P. Guffey; F. Clair Ross, candidate for auditor general, G. Harold Wagner, candidate for state treasurer; Meredith Meyers, state Democratic chairman; David L. Lawrence, Pennsylvania National Committee chairman; Luther Harr, campaign chairman and John Bonard Jr., candidate for Congress from the Twentieth Congressional district.

The committee is providing a free ox-roast with coffee, a concert by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars band and athletic contests.

Tickets have been placed on sale throughout fifteen counties and a good advance sale has been reported.

New Division Leaders of the Salvation Army To Be Welcomed Next Thursday

Mayor Harris

Mrs. Harris

Warren will be well represented at the public welcome meeting of Salvation Army leaders for Western Pennsylvania Division, at Pittsburgh, on Thursday of next week; the corps officers, as well as voluntary leaders of youth and Mothers' League of Mercy will attend.

Letters of welcome have already been written from Burgess Steber, on behalf of the community, John G. Rossman, on behalf of the citizens' advisory board, and W. E. Yeager from Warren Community Chest.

Major William G. Harris has been appointed to succeed Colonel Ebbs. The major has a very colorful career, having served on the faculty of the Training College for Cadets, as a missionary among the head-hunters on Central Celebes, the public relations department of the International Headquarters in London, England and among the Lepers of Java.

Coming to America in 1926, he was appointed to the eastern territory headquarters, in the editorial department in New York City. For eight years he was the able editor of the War City. Later, he was in charge of the Hudson River Division as divisional commander.

A World War veteran, the major served for three years in France with the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Air Force before entering Salvation Army service. He was a British civil servant with responsibility to the admiralty and the board of trade. During the World War, however, the fulfillment of things gripped him and he decided that should he come through his life count for service to God and humanity. The Salvation Army offered the best medium at that time and he has served the organization since as teacher, social worker, missionary, editor, administrator and leader ever since.

Mrs. Harris is a well-known musician in Salvation Army circles, excelling as pianist, organist and composer. For a number of years she has presided at the console of the four manual Estey in the Army's Centennial Memorial Temple in New York City. She holds the degree of Music Bachelor, as an associate of the American Guild of Organists, a licentiate of the Trinity College of Music, London, and a life member of the Royal Society of Teachers.

One of her duties in this area will be the oversight of the Mothers' League of Mercy, better known as the Home League.

FRICK WITH YOKED ACTION-BACK

Pattern 1517

By ANNE ADAMS

The merry-go-round of busy days to come require a frock that's ready for action at any time; in other words, a short-sleeved Anne Adams presents her newest version of this all-time favorite style in Pattern 4547, starting backwards, there's a striking and practical treatment in a curved yoke and a generous, action-free inverted pleat. A trim yoke appears in front, too, and there are double front skirt panels that may be smartly cut on the bias. See what jaunty style the optional, high-placed pocket gives! Have the neat pointed collar in matching or contrasting fabric. But whatever you do, start this style without delay for a fashion-right fall!

Pattern 4547 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Three cheers for the ANNE ADAMS FALL AND WINTER PATTERN BOOK—just off the press. It's right in key with the American spirit of freedom and individuality. There are vivacious youngster styles . . . wardrobes for career girl and collegiate . . . home-maker modes. You'll see tailored wear, stunning afternoons, and a "full-dress parade" for evening. A department is devoted to slimming frocks: another to lingerie and accessories. Order your copy NOW! BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. PATTERN FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanne Bowman

YESTERDAY: Constance leaves El Cabrillo determined to raise money for the dairy farm, somehow.

Chapter 14
Homecoming

CONSTANCE thought of Min's car as she drove her own coupe out of the city garage. She patted the steering wheel as though to encourage it on, into that maelstrom of early evening traffic. Queer she'd never before noticed the noise and confusion.

Ahead of her lay The Family, and explanation. She'd worry about both when she faced them.

The first thing she saw, upon driving in the grounds, was the splendid roadster which had belonged, after a fashion, to Don Cabrillo.

"Now what?" she wondered. Lamson's face lighted with joy, then clouded. His eyebrows arched, his eyes rolled toward the ceiling and his shoulders seemed intent upon following.

"Lammy... what on... my word, are we having a funeral?" The foyer was a mass of flowers, great baskets of blossoms filled the air with a heady fragrance.

"Your bag is in your car, Miss Constance," he inquired, and nodded to a trim new maid who was hurrying towards them.

"Of course, but—" Lamson was gone and the maid was insisting that Constance follow her.

"Will you please attend to your duties," Constance said. "I'm quite capable of finding my way about this house."

The maid disappeared and Constance tiptoed down the hall. Flowers everywhere. Heavenly Day, they'd had the living room done over again. And now the dining room; three long tables, exquisitely appointed, a new footman hovering over one.

Constance nearly ran into Lamson as he hurried into the house with her bag. "A wedding?" she demanded.

Lamson lost control of his aitches. "It's a dinner to h'out-dinner h'all dinners," he moaned.

"Listen," she grabbed him by the sleeve, "gentlemen don't visit ladies in their boudoirs, but I'm not feeling like a lady just now, so come on."

Lamson followed her upstairs and when she had closed the door behind him, she handed him a "cigarette." "Light up, Lammy, and start spilling. What's happened since I went away?"

Lamson balanced gingerly on the edge of a chair. "C-Conchita," he began, and stopped short.

Constance controlled her smile. She hadn't heard him call her that since she returned from her first boarding school. "That's all right. I like to hear you say Conchita. Now, go on."

Instead, he reached into a pocket and drew forth a clipping.

Constance read it, slipper tapping.

CABRILLOS TO SELL FAMOUS RANCHO, the heading advised her.

A second caption, elucidated—"Fabulous Price. Be Paid For El Cabrillo Rancho."

The clipping contained an interview with the Cabrillo family. Excerpts from it burned into the heart of the girl who read.

"—the days of the cattle barons are gone—"

"Out of the mouths of babes," quoted Constance.

"—and it is advisable to dispose of extensive holdings, as times have changed and resident managers can no longer be trusted to give honest attention to the interests of absentee owners—"

Constance read the eulogy on Cabrillos past and present, through anger-dulled eyes. This then, was the thanks the Taylors were to receive: public condemnation.

"Credit"

FINE shots of sapphire shone through the black fringe of Constance's eyes as she looked up. "What has happened since this appeared?" she demanded.

"Credit!" stated Lamson. "Such credit I never saw given a Cabrillo."

"Don't perjure your loyalty, Lamson, I understand," soothed Constance. "You want to tell me that since then they've gone the limit, and by they I mean the family."

"Now listen. I don't want to know I'm here. I don't want to play Banquo at this evening's feast, but after that... well, just tell the maid that I'm... oh, say I'm a lady dick."

"Lammy!" her voice softened as she looked at the tired, old man. "How would you like to live on a ranch with plenty of horses—"

"Orses!" echoed Lamson soulfully. "Oh, Miss Conchita, my father was an 'osterer.' He sighed suddenly. "No, I couldn't go. The promise I gave to your father."

Constance patted his arm. "We'll find a way," she promised. "Better go down now before anyone starts asking questions."

She looked the door behind him, then went to her desk, put the clipping to one side and drew note paper before her. Swiftly she wrote.

"I know the newspaper stories released by my family will reach you. Please let me apologize for them. They spoke in ignorance of true conditions. As Juliano

'Credit'

FINE slits of sapphire shone through the black fringe of Constance's eyes as she looked up. "What has happened since this appeared?" she demanded.

"Credit!" stated Lamson. "Such credit I never saw given a Cabrillo."

"Don't perjure your loyalty, Lamson. I understand," soothed Constance. "You want to tell me that since then they've gone the limit, and by they I mean the family."

"Now listen. I don't want it known I'm here. I don't want to play Banquo at this evening's feast, but after that... well, just tell the maid that I'm... oh, say I'm a lady dick."

"Lammy!" her voice softened as she looked at the tired, old man. "How would you like to live on a ranch with plenty of horses—"

"Orses!" echoed Lamson soulfully. "Oh, Miss Conchita, my father was an 'osterler," he sighed suddenly. "No, I couldn't go. The promise I gave to your father—"

Constance patted his arm. "We'll find a way," she promised. "Better go down now before anyone starts asking questions."

She locked the door behind him, then went to her desk, put the clipping to one side and drew note paper before her. Swiftly she wrote:—

"I know the newspaper stories released by my family will reach you. Please let me apologize for them. They spoke in ignorance of true conditions. As Juliano says, never has El Cabrillo had as efficient management.

"As soon as possible I will refute the printed statements and give you credit for your fine work—"

Constance slipped the letter into her bag, after addressing it to Peter Taylor, Senior, then turned out her light and went to the window to look down on the arriving guests.

Lights threw a luster on top hats and white shirtfronts, in folds of velvet, satin and furs. White eyes of limousines streamed up the driveway, and red tail lights blinked as they wheeled down again.

Once a cab stopped to deposit a tall, squarely-built figure, and Constance leaned close to the pane to look down and whisper— "Why... why, John?"

"I had become real again. He'd stepped out of the back-ground, where he'd been pushed by the more vivid life at El Cabrillo, and for a moment it seemed to Constance that only with the sight of him had she actually returned from the ranch."

She turned away then to study her position. One thing, the Cabrillo headlong fling into debt substantiated her claim that the fifty thousand dollars wouldn't last long, once it was in their hands.

"Oh," she thought bitterly, "I wish this were Old England where they had a debtors' prison. Maybe that would teach this family the lesson they must learn some day."

"And why do I assume the burden? I'm not responsible for their actions? I'm not even bound by a promise to my father, as Lamson is..."

"Why don't I let them sell the place and step out, start living my own life... let them sell—she stopped with a sob. "I can't. I may as well be honest. I love El Cabrillo. I'm really saying it because I love it more than I love them."

The last car departed and comparative quiet reigned in the hall below. Assured the guests were all at dinner, Constance descended the stairs. "Going out to mail a letter," she whispered to Lamson.

Outsider

THE green maw of the post-box accepted the envelope. Constance drove on, trying to blind herself to the glare of that massive, Someone would go down to the highway for the mail pouch. It would be brought to Peter Senior's table. He'd cough, rumble, and finally throw it across to Pedro.

"Please, God," whispered Constance seeking a glimpse of stars through the naked limbs of the park trees. "Please make them understand that the story was given in thoughtlessness."

She couldn't drive all night so she returned home, wormed her way through the driveway and, leaving the car before the garage, started back to the house. She stopped before the lighted windows of the solarium.

Somewhere an orchestra played discretely. Couples danced through from the hall, down the tiled floors and back into the hall through another doorway.

There was her mother, radiant in amber velvet, looking at that moment only half the age of the daughter who scowled at her from the darkness of the terrace.

Constance scowled because she couldn't picture Nana Cabrillo at the ranch. She belonged here; here in this exotic setting.

Don strode through, sleek and handsome. The girl in his arms adjusted her steps to his with a pained, adoring smile. Don would never adjust his steps to another's.

And then came Donna; exotic as a tropical blossom, in a frock that seemed a swirl of living blossoms; one scarlet flower in the high coils of her blue-black hair.

Donna and Constance straightened. Donna and John Rask-thorne engaged in a deeply serious conversation. Constance wondered if her feeling of alarm was jealousy, and then she saw Donna jerk from John's arms, stomp tiny scarlet shoes and snap her fingers before John's patrician nose.

"Okay, sister!"

A hand closed on Constance's arm with the words, and simultaneously a flashlight blinded her. "What's the business?" demanded the voice.

"Let go of my arm," warned Constance.

"Come on, come on, what are you up to?" droned the superior person beyond the flashlight. "I'm Constance Cabrillo and I—"

"Yeah? Well, I'm old Don Cabrillo's ghost," chuckled the shadow. "Here, Ed, you go through her bag."

Constance fought the hand that gripped her. "You touch that bag and you'll be sorry," she promised. "Who are you?"

"We're private detectives, sister, put here to catch little blue-eyed snitchers. Want me to take you into the Cabrillos?"

"No," cried Constance. "But please look in my bag; you'll find my driver's license there, and if you can't believe what you read, call Lamson, the butler, he'll identify me."

"Fat chance," breathed the shadowy Ed. "You girls always work with someone on the inside. Let's take her down to the station for the night, the Cabrillos can come in tomorrow—"

Budapest, Aug. 30.—(P)—An official announcement today said Rumania had agreed to cede Hungary an estimated 44,000 square kilometers (about 17,000 square miles) of Transylvania to be transferred within two weeks.

Rumania officials are to withdraw under the supervision of any Hungarian-Rumanian commission.

The territory gained by Hungary is only about 45 per cent of the entire province which many Hungarians had hoped to get.

The ceded area takes in the northern half of Transylvania and is in the shape of a horse's head with the nose extended on a line along the old pre-war eastern Hungarian frontier.

There is something catching about the New York Yankees spirit. They've already captured fans' imagination with a magnificent drive that has bagged 10 victories in their last 11 games, and they're liable to catch the Cleveland Indians and the Detroit Tigers, if the latter clubs don't watch out.

In an entire stand against the four clubs in the western division, the only game the Yankees dropped was 1-0 to Chicago. They polished off the St. Louis Browns, 10-3 and 6-5, in a doubleheader yesterday.

They reeled off ten runs in one merry-go-round inning to overwhelm the groggy Browns in the first game, and in the second they rallied three times to emerge triumphant in the 13th.

With two out and two on in the ninth, Joe DiMaggio, who had been on the bench with a charley horse, went to the plate and smacked Elden Auker's first pitch for his 28th homer to tie the score.

In the 13th, with two out and the bases loaded, Frank Crosetti caught the Browns napping with (Turn to Page Twelve)

Semi-Pro Gridders Are Meeting Tonight

A meeting of the semi-pro football players who will be candidates for this year's team will be held this evening at the Warren National Bank building, second floor, at seven o'clock.

Ways and means of procuring uniforms will be among the topics discussed. Local gridders are working hard to organize a club to replace the professional Red Jackets who have represented Warren for the past several years.

DON HUTSON IS STAR OF GREEN BAY'S 45-28 WIN

Chicago, Aug. 30.—(P)—Now the college boys know only too well why the Green Bay Packers and their unexcelled end, Don Hutson, are the scourge of the National Football League.

The All-Stars moved into Soldier Field last night forewarned and presumably forearmed for the prowess of the mighty Packers dazzling overhead attack.

But their advance information was useless. The Packers put on one of the most sparkling exhibitions of passing in the history of football, whipping the all-stars, 45 to 28, in the seventh game of this series. The victory gave the pros a three to two edge, two games being ties.

A record-breaking crowd of 84,567 was shocked in the first minutes to see the amateurs drive to a touchdown. Andy Schindler of Southern California set up the tally with an intercepted pass, and then scored on a six-yard dash inside right tackle. Nile Kinnick, Iowa's sensational star of 1939, droppedkick the point.

Then the Packers struck in the style characteristic of their pro campaigns which have brought them five national titles. Cecil Isbell lost 19 yards on an attempted pass, putting the Packers on their own 21. Hutson, who holds all the league pass-catching records worth mentioning, then raced down the middle, took a perfect 51-yard pass on the run and footed the remaining 30 yards for the tying touchdown.

Less than two minutes later, the Packers recovered a fumble on the All-Stars' 26 and Isbell shot a touchdown pass to Carl Mullenau, an end. But the All-Stars refused to be daunted, driving 36 yards for the tiny tally, Kenny Washington, U. C. L. A. negro star, going over on a spinner.

Again the Packers went ahead with tantalizing ease. Taking the ball on their own 35, the Packers scored in three plays. Arnold Herber tossed a short one to Andy Uram who galloped 46 yards for the score. Near the end of the period, Isbell hit Hutson in the end zone with a 35-yard pass.

But Hutson still hadn't finished his amazing performance. Midway in the third period he took a 17-yard bullet pass from Herber and romped 12 more yards to Green Bay's fifth touchdown. The All-Stars, showing marvelous spirit against the odds, again cracked the Packers. Schindler climaxing a 46-yard attack by smacking the line for a touchdown.

Thus threatened, the Packers cut loose again from their own 20, running and passing to the All Stars' 25 where Paul Engebretsen booted a field goal. Just to polish off the night's work Isbell sparked another drive and rounded right end for the final score.

PIRATES TO HOLD BASEBALL SCHOOL

Pittsburgh, Aug. 30.—(P)—Kids from the sandlots will get a chance to show whether they have any big league talent at a baseball "school" to be held at Forbes Field by the Pirates starting September 9.

In charge will be Joe Schultz, director of the club's farm system, assisted by Honus Wagner, Johnny Gooch and Leo Mackey. Boys between the ages of 17 and 23 have been invited to apply for the school, which will be limited to the first 150 qualifying.

In another announcement today the Pirates made known they have renewed their year-old working agreement with the Albany, N. Y., club of the Eastern League.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

After twenty years of competition between the Warren and Youngville scholastic grid teams, the Eagles will not be on the Dragons schedule this fall. Although originally scheduled to play the opener at Youngville tonight, the two teams will pass it up for the season by mutual agreement of Coaches Leidig and Beck. The new Red and White mentor took over the reins early this week and will send his team first against Titusville at the oil town. Youngville first appeared on the local schedule in 1920 and made an auspicious start, handing the Dragons one of their three defeats that year, 9 to 6. Since then, however, it has been slim picking for the Eagles whose best effort against the Blue and White was a 0-0 tie in 1935. The Youngville lads have been shut out in all but three of the games and never have scored more than one touchdown per game against the Dragons.

So, although the reserves will play the Eagles the afternoon before Warren meets Titusville, the two teams will not square off this season and the first opponents for the Dragons will be the Lions of Erie Academy who are now in camp at Lake Chautauqua. Head Coach Lowell C. Drake gave his boys their first taste of scrimmage Wednesday night in preparation for the Labor Day fust at Russell Field and expressed himself as well pleased with the way his first team has rounded into shape. Academy's principal worry is a lack of reserve strength, but the first eleven is apparently all that was hoped for by the Lion mentor. Manross, Kramer, Schwindt and Krivonak will be in the starting backfield.

It seems that fish life is not all that suffered from the pollution of Brokenstraw last week. A Corry young man reported yesterday that he found the carcass of a doe on the bank of the creek, evidently a victim of the poison. It is possible that the game commission may join with the fish and water boards in a more extensive inquiry into the contamination of the stream which killed all fish life from the mouth of Hare creek east to a point this side of Pittsfield. Authorities are still probing the affair in the hope of running down the source of the contamination.

YEARS AGO IN SPORTS

August 30, 1920—"Pike" Peterson, who has been pitching for Brookville since his release by Toronto, was sent against his "hometown" team yesterday and beat the Krusts 2 to 1. Peterson allowed eight hits and Fred Plane, on the mound, for the Krusts permitted only seven. The game signalled the reappearance in the lineup of Bobby Burns who played first in place of Paris who went behind the plate because of Sam Rasmussen's broken thumb.

August 30, 1930—Lonnie Burch, son of Ed Burch, of Endeavor, reported to the New York Yankees on August 4, it was learned here this week, and was farmed to Chambersburg of the Blue Ridge League. The New York Evening Telegram reminds us that Lonnie's dad used to catch for Bob Shawkey when Bob the Gob was in Warren and Forest counties. Bob brought Lonnie to the Yanks and then freighted him to Chambersburg with a fine letter of recommendation to Manager Paul Krichell.

Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Riggs Hits Strokes With Utmost Confidence;
McNeill Effective in Driving Duel or at Net;
Kovacs Capable of Every Shot in Tennis Book

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

SAMUEL HARDY, former international team captain, reviews the leading candidates for the men's national singles championship at Forest Hills.

Like Bryan Grant, Bobby Riggs is a great retriever, thoroughly at home on the baseline, with a deep defensive lob when hard pressed. His forehand drive, which he plays at will, is sometimes sliced, but his backhand invariably carries top spin. Both strokes are hit with the utmost confidence, unless he is bothered by some outstanding volleyer, when he hurries his delivery at some expense to accuracy.

Don McNeill is equally effective in a driving duel or at the net. He is perhaps alone of the first 10 in that respect.

FRANK KOVACS is capable of making every shot in the book and some that are not listed. His best shot is an acutely angled forehand. He has much in reserve, but lacks concentration at times.

Frank Parker relies on his steadiness in the baselines.

Welby Van Horn drives in a manner that duplicates Bill Tilden at his finest. Smooth as are his ground strokes, he achieves his most formidable game at the net.

For all-round play supported by sound driving off the ground, Elwood Cooke is easily the best of the lot.

That is a broad statement, as Bitsy Grant, just below Cooke and ranked seventh, gained his position entirely on ground stroke control. Gardnar Mulloy depends less on ground strokes than any of the others.

GILBERT HUNT'S ground stroke playing is the key to an all-court game that deserves closer study than it is given by the majority of younger players.

Joe Hunt has a fine all-round game, but is handicapped by a lack of tournament competition because of his Naval Academy schedule.

Henry Prusoff's powerful drives are not all they should be because of employment of cuts, slices and topspin. His ground game with its tremendous power has carried the big Seattle player to the place he occupies.

Samuel Hardy offers his analysis as something in the way of evidence that America's leading amateurs discovered that the net attack, good and powerful as its volleying may be, is not dependable without controlled ground strokes, the foundation of high class tennis.

State Champs At Forge Field Sunday

Natrona's state semi-pro baseball champions will display their wares Sunday afternoon at the National Forge Field, and one of the largest crowds of the season is expected to see the speedy Natronans in action against the Irvine nine.

The titlists have just returned from Wichita, Kans., where they participated in the national tournament where they won three games before being eliminated. One of their losses was to Enid, Okla., last year's runner-up.

Tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock the Forge will entertain Brockway which played them to a 7-7 tie in a previous meeting.

HAMMERIN' HANK TO GIVE ZIVIC SHOT AT TITLE

Pittsburgh, Aug. 30.—(P)—Fritz Zivic, like Pittsburgh slugger who outpointed Sammy Angott last night to earn a welterweight title bout when Henry Armstrong, predicted today he would "bust up" the negro champion when they meet here late next month.

"I really think I can lick him," said Zivic. "I'll bust him up with uppercuts—like Lou Ambers did." He was referring to Ambers' lightweight victory over Armstrong a year ago.

The sleek-looking Armstrong, after watching Zivic bang out a 10-round non-title decision over Angott, NBA lightweight king, said quietly: "I don't generally make predictions, but I think I can take him."

Offered a $25,000 guarantee by the Rooney-McGingley boxing club for the September match, Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, said he expected to "close the deal with in 48 hours." He forecast the contest would draw $75,000.

Zivic, who at 26 has been boxing professionally more than eight years, had an easy time beating Angott. The NBA champ, 6'4" pounds the lighter at 137, won the first three rounds by his aggressive nature, but the rest of the fight was Zivic's. Dealing out left jabs to the face and hard right uppercuts to the stomach, Zivic had his Washington, Pa., opponent weakened by the fight, although Angott kept on his feet.

Zivic, youngest of the five Zivic brothers—four of them fighters and the fifth a referee—has had 150 professional bouts, 63 of which he claims to have won by knockouts.

At last near the top of the fistic ladder in his division, he said he is "tickled to death" over the prospect of fighting Armstrong "and at last making some decent money for me and my two young sons." That will be his biggest bout yet. Zivic said Armstrong's presence at the ringside last night helped him win. "That made me fight better," he said. "It was the first time I ever had anything on my mind during a fight."

The Forbes Field crowd of 10,726 paid a gross of $20,596.

SERIES TIED
The West Penn softballers tied up the North Warren League championship series last night by trimming Ebels', 16 to 4. Ebels' took the first game in the three-out-of-five series.

Another game will be played this evening.

Updegraff and Cruickshank were the winning battery with Redcliffe and Sanden trying in vain to stem the West Penn tide, and Pierce doing the catching.

GOLFING TIPS

MORE ABOUT TROUBLE SHOTS

Another tough place you may find yourself is under over hanging limbs, behind a tree or bush. You'll see many novice golfers walk right up and try to get away with a shot that the best player in the world would be afraid to try. So unless you have plenty of room or plenty of time for practice the very best way to play this shot is safe.

Take a deep face club and pitch it back on the fairway even though you may have to hit back toward the tee rather than the green, and then play your next one well and make up for it. But if you have time and do like to execute one of these tough ones occasionally, learn to make the punch shot with a closed face three or four iron. This shot is made just like it sounds by punching the ball. Just step into the ppp shot for a minute and ask how it's done. When you get the idea try it, it's fun when it's accomplished, and fun for the other fellow when it fails.

Gene Sarazen Bests Defending Champion; Hagen Loses By Fluke

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 30.—(P)—

Gene Sarazen keeps rolling along, and today a handful of comparative youngsters still in the running for the 1940 professional golf championship found the veteran campaigner squarely in their path. Sarazen didn't reach these quarter-finals by a fluke. He shot one of the greatest match rounds of his career to knock out Defending P. G. A. Champion Henry Picard yesterday.

In the 16 matches which reduced the field to eight players, none packed more brilliant golf than the Sarazen-Picard duel. There were perhaps more gallery goings-on around Sarazen's nearest rival, Walter Hagen, but the Haig lost and thus ended the hopes of many that these two would defy Father Time, get to Saturday's semi-finals and meet once more.

It was the young fellows with thick wrists and strong legs who survived the third round, 36-hole matches. Byron Nelson knocked out Dick Metz, the medalist, 2 and 1; Eddie Kirk conquered Art Clark, 5 and 4; Ben Hogan whipped Al Brosch, 5 and 4; Ralph Guldahl pushed aside Jim Foulis, 5 and 3; Sammy Snead had a breeze with Jimmy Hines, 7 and 6; and Paul Runyan disposed of Ed Dudley, 4 and 3.

Hagen bowed to Harold (Jug) McSpaden, 1 up.

Picard, after the Sarazen match, never was more correct than when he walked off the home hole and said, "You've never had a tougher match."

Picard was three down with only three holes to go when he turned on his best golf and closed out with three successive birdies, but the last hole broke his heart. Picard was only two feet away, and Sarazen was seven feet off the pin. Sarazen looked at the crowd, like those that followed him when he won the P. G. A. three times and the U. S. Open twice, grinned a bit and without apparently trying rapped the putt down for a deuce and the match.

Picard had the uncomfortable experience of shooting a five-under per 68 on his home course, yet losing. Sarazen had the same medal score in the second 18 holes of their 36-hole match.

Hagen looked like a success for the day at least when he led McSpaden two up at the end of the first 18 holes. In the afternoon, he gave away one hole, the 13th, however, by acknowledging his club brushed McSpaden's ball in the rough, accidentally. Then he fiddled around on the 16th green for three putts.

The old master tossed in a birdie three on the 17th as his last gallant try, but McSpaden tied it, and so youth was served.

Surprise of the quarter-finals was 30-year-old Eddie Kirk of Farmington, Mich., who never has won a major tournament. He first-vice-P was moved up automatically, but this year the field is wide open. Here's a vote for Ed Foster of Providence, Kentucky. U. S. (Turn to Page Eleven)

Chautauqua County Fair Opens Monday

After months of painstaking preparations the stage is set for the opening of the 1940 Chautauqua County Fair.

A full week of day and night programs will open at noon Labor Day at popular gate and grandstand prices.

In addition to a superb program of entertainment before the grandstand, in the track oval and along the great midway, the many buildings on the grounds in Dunkirk have been crowded full of exhibits, all designed to show a cross section of Chautauqua county's way of living--on the farm, in the factories, in the home and in the school.

Every day offers a special interest.

Labor day will see the grand opening program when all the buildings will be thrown open to the public. Shortly after noon the maestro, Joseph Basile, with his famous Madison Square Garden band will strike up the opening concert. Meanwhile the nationally known O. C. Buck shows will open up along the midway with numerous novelty riding devices, games, exhibits and new side shows of many kinds. The racing program on Monday calls for three big events, at least nine heats, with purses ranging from $300 to $500. Pat Kelly the famed bearded jockey will drive exhibition heats.

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

The New Deal seeks to confuse the issues of the campaign by accusing the Republican party of bad faith in endorsing any of the principles that the New Dealers have failed to accomplish.

The reasons for their failures are fairly obvious, though they have tried their best to divert the public's attention by raising spectres of class hatred and by uttering loud cries of emergency at every possible moment.

In the first place the New Dealers are incapable of handling the affairs of a free government. They are economic planners who have no place in their philosophy for free enterprise. The experience of the past seven and one-half years shows this, and it shows something more than this. It shows that, under the guise of social reform, these planners will stoop to any means to gain power over the American people. Their use of W. P. A. and Relief for political purposes is common knowledge. But an economic planner doesn't stop half way. He can't.

In every controversial measure that goes before congress there is the danger of political misuse so long as the New Dealers remain in Washington. The Republicans have opposed much of the so-called "must" legislation because they could see what lay under the high sounding, humanitarian titles.

Every measure of the New Dealers is, at heart, a demand for power, and whenever Congress delegates power away from the people, it is giving to the New Dealers another weapon for coercion and abuse. The American people have had seven and one-half years of lofty language and low political performance. They have the right to be suspicious.

They ought to scrutinize with the utmost care the measure now pending before Congress, the Burke-Wadsworth selective service bill. Without consideration of the arguments for or against peacetime conscription or compulsory military training, this bill should be studied from the standpoint of the powers it bestows on the president and his administrative assistants.

It gives the administration power to pick men from their jobs and their homes for compulsory training, or, by declaring a certain group or a certain industry vital to the defense economy, it can pass over and excuse as it sees fit. In short, this bill gives the administration complete control of the man power of the United States.

This is the Administration that was unable or unwilling to keep the hand of political coercion out of relief. What will it do with the vast powers of selective service?

DEMOCRAT

The hundreds of thousands of farm homes which are now enjoying the comfort and convenience of access to electric power as a result of the policy of the Roosevelt administration to provide it through the Rural Electrification Administration hardly need to be told that they would never have got it from a Republican administration or that they will not possess its benefits long if the power trust candidate for President should by some miracle be elected.

Mr. Willkie has acknowledged in a passionate utterance that privately-owned utilities and their perpetuation are his prime interest in life and the constant efforts of these enterprises to sabotage the activities of the government to bring cheap power to rural communities are striking proof of what Mr. Willkie's first article of faith means.

Recent measures taken by the power trust to hamper and prevent rural residents of North Carolina from getting cheap electric power through government assistance are revealed by Harry Slattery, administrator of REA, in announcing allotments of funds to several North Carolina co-operatives.

"These co-operatives are trying to bring service to areas which the power companies have for years failed to serve," Mr. Slattery declared. "Even today the utilities have no intention of serving all the farmers. Instead, they are cutting up the co-operatives' territory with short spic lines. If this is not stopped it will prevent many of them from ever receiving electric service."

"Hoke County (North Carolina) farmers for years tried unsuccessfully to get service from the Carolina Power and Light Company. Finally, after they had formed a co-operative and applied to REA for a construction loan, the company hurriedly built six miles of line to cut 30 of the best farms out of their area."

"Robeson County, nearby, has been so cut up by piecemeal 'cream-skimming' construction that many farmers are hopelessly pocketed, and will probably never have electric service."

"Duke Power Company refused to serve Stokes County farmers. They formed a co-operative and signed up members. Suddenly the company built 30 miles of line in a densely settled area near Farmington. This spite line not only deprived the co-operative of its best territory, needed to compensate for thinly-settled areas, but it also isolated farmers in the eastern end of the county."

"The Wake, Surry, Wayne, Hoke and Cumberland co-operatives are designed to serve everyone in the area, whether he owns a large and profitable farm on a main road or a few acres in back country. If the power companies build their lines to the few rich farmers, the poorer ones will have no hope of ever enjoying the benefits of electricity."

SWISS ALLIANCE PLANS MEETING

The fourth district of the North American Swiss Alliance will hold its convention here in the Liberty Club hall on Labor Day, September 2, starting at ten o'clock in the morning. Because many of the delegates will be from a distance, the entire schedule will be maintained on standard time.

The district includes Buffalo, N. Y.; Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Dover, Columbus and Toledo, O.; Detroit, Mich.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Warren, Ridgway, Pittsburgh.

Among the visitors will be members of the executive board, from New York City.

The Warren Swiss Society, of which E. J. Huggler, of Warren, is president, is sponsoring the convention and extends an invitation to all American-Swiss people in the community. Henry Huber, local secretary-treasurer, is secretary of the district organization.

There will be a dinner at one o'clock for all delegates and visitors, served in the Liberty Club hall, and, weather permitting, all will join in an outdoor picnic supper.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT WARREN GENERAL HOSPITAL

Free care was given to 316 residents of Warren borough last year by Warren General Hospital according to J. H. Alexander, president of the board.

Although the hospital cared for a total of 772 free or part pay patients during the fiscal year which ended May 31, these persons received 8,259 days of care, representing 35.2 percent of the total service of the hospital.

While the percentage of free care given during the year recently ended does not quite top the previous year, it is still a high mark an increase of 3.2 over the year.

Measure for the fiscal year, 1939-40, the hospital last year, a little over one-half of the year, on that free care was given by appropriations from the State and by a grant by the Warren County commissioners.

A considerable amount of the free and part pay care last year was given to residents of townships surrounding Warren borough. However, practically every person from practically every community throughout the County came under this classification also.

Communities receiving largest percentage of free and part pay care are:

Location	No. of patients	Pct.
Youngsville	53	6.9
Clarendon	41	5.3
Tidioute	37	4.8
Russell	33	4.3
Pittsfield	26	3.4
Kinzua	18	2.3
Sugar Grove	17	2.2
Akeley	14	1.8

Both Cop Twin Bills To Decrease Margin; Vander Meer Recalled (From Page Ten)

A perfect hunt down the third base line and squeezed the winning run home.

The victory reduced the idle Indians' margin over them to 4 1/2 games.

It didn't get them any closer to second place, however, because the Tigers were busy in their own behalf, mowing down the Washington Senators in a doubleheader, 3-2 and 6-0, to advance within two games of the lead. Buck Newsom notched his 17th in the nightcap, abbreviated to six innings by darkness.

In the only other American League game, the Boston Red Sox were handed a 4-3 decision by Johnny Rigney, who walked Joe Cronin with the bases loaded in the ninth.

The National League bunting has been more or less generally accorded to the Cincinnati Reds for sometime, but twofold developments yesterday came close to clinching it.

First, Harry Lavagetto, star third baseman of the second place Brooklyn Dodgers, underwent an appendectomy and, second, the Reds raided the Dodgers, 9-3. The Dodgers were helpless before the seven-hit hurling of Paul Derringer, bagging his 17th victory. This boosted the Reds 8 1/2 games in front.

After the game the champs announced the recall of Johnny (Double No-Hit) Vander Meer, effective Saturday.

The St. Louis Cardinals obtained exclusive possession of third place by shutting out the New York Giants, 5-0 and the Pittsburgh Pirates extended their winning string to eight straight by shutting out the Phillies, 4-0. Mac Brown held the tail-enders in check until the eighth, when Danny MacFayden was rushed to duty as the Phils led off with a couple of hits.

Sailor Bill Posedel shanghaied the Chicago Cubs with five-hit pitching to give the Boston Bees a 3-1 triumph.

ance of the Vienna plan from Bucharest.
If the five minutes passed without Rumanian official approval, Ribbentrop was reported as having said, Rumania might face immediate invasion by Russia on one side, and Hungary, backed by the German motorized columns and air force, on the other.

The Rumanian general staff was reported to have advised the government to accept the Axis award at Vienna on the ground that the Rumanian army would be helpless to protect the country against possible Russian, Hungarian and Bulgarian attacks especially if these were backed by the strong airforces of Germany and Italy.

Besides pressure from Hungary and Bulgaria, informed circles saw indications that Russia was prepared to take advantage of any Rumanian preoccupation on these fronts by entering southern Bucovina from the North and Moldavia from the East.

Budapest, Aug. 30.—(P)—An official announcement today said Rumania had agreed to cede Hungary an estimated 44,000 square kilometers (about 17,000 square miles) of Transylvania to be transferred within two weeks.

Rumanian officials are to withdraw under the supervision of a mixed Hungarian-Rumanian commission.

The territory gained by Hungary is only about 45 per cent of the entire province which many Hungarians had hoped to get.

The ceded area takes in the northern half of Transylvania and is in the shape of a horse's head with the nose extended on a line along the pre-war eastern Hungarian frontier.

Wallace Injects Appeasement Issue Into Campaign

in "one economic concession after another by the United States to the totalitarian powers."
"The appeasers will have their way if the Republicans win because they have contributed largely, both politically and financially to the Republican cause. These people believe the Republicans in power would give them profitable business with a German-controlled Europe."

The nominee charged the "dictators have definite designs against this hemisphere" and said "they hope to get rid of the unyielding Roosevelt" in the coming election. He termed the European conflict "a war to destroy freedom and democracy."

"It is a war to prevent the people of North and South America from developing their resources without paying tribute to Europe and without being victims of European secret police serving a self-appointed master race."

The crowd, waving cornstalks, cheered the defense and neutrality sections of the speech. The current rearmament drive has produced "splendid" results, Wallace said, "but it is only a start. It will be pushed until America is fully prepared to defend herself against any emergency."

The speaker declared the "real attitude" of the GOP toward farm legislation was exhibited a month ago in congress where Republican house members voted 106 to 38 against an appropriation for commodity loans.

Semi-Pro Gridders Are Meeting Tonight

A meeting of the semi-pro football players who will be candidates for this year's team will be held this evening at the Warren National Bank building, second floor, at seven o'clock.

Ways and means of procuring uniforms will be among the topics discussed.

Local gridders are working hard to organize a club to replace the professional Red Jackets who have represented Warren for the past several years.

DON HUTSON IS STAR OF GREEN BAY'S 45-28 WIN

Chicago, Aug. 30.—(P.) Now the college boys know too well why the Green Bay Packers and their unexcelled end, Don Hutson, are the scourge of the National Football League.

The All-Stars moved into Soldier Field last night forewarned and presumably forearmed for the prowess of the mighty Packers' dazzling overhead attack.

But their advance information was useless. The Packers put on one of the most sparkling exhibitions of passing in the history of football, whipping the all-stars, 45 to 28, in the seventh game of this series. The victory gave the pros a three to two edge, two games being ties.

A record-breaking crowd of 84,567 was shocked in the first minutes to see the amateurs drive to a touchdown. Amby Schindler of Southern California set up the tally with an intercepted pass, and then scored on a six-yard dash inside right tackle. Nile Kinnick, Iowa's sensational star of 1939, dropped the point.

Then the Packers struck in the style characteristic of their pro campaigns which have brought them five national titles. Cecil Isbell lost 19 yards on an attempted pass, putting the Packers on their own 21. Hutson, who holds all the league pass-catching records worth mentioning, then raced down the middle, took a perfect 51-yard pass on the run and footed the remaining 30 yards for the tying touchdown.

Less than two minutes later, the Packers recovered a fumble on the All-Stars' 26 and Isbell shot a touchdown pass to Carl Mullen, an end. But the All-Stars refused to be daunted, driving 36 yards for the tiny tally, Kenny Washington, U. C. L. A. negro star, going over on a spinner.

Again the Packers went ahead with tantalizing ease. Taking the ball on their own 35, the Packers scored in three plays. Arnold Herber tossed a short one to Andy Uram who galloped 46 yards for the score. Near the end of the period, Isbell hit Hutson in the end zone with a 35-yard pass.

But Hutson still hadn't finished his amazing performance. Midway in the third period he took a 17-yard bullet pass from Herber and romped 12 more yards to Green Bay's fifth touchdown. The All-Stars, showing marvelous spirit against the odds, again cracked the Packers. Schindler climaxing a 46-yard attack by smacking the line for a touchdown.

Thus threatened the Packers cut loose again from their own 20, running and passing to the All-Stars' 25 where Paul Engbertsen booted a field goal. Just to polish off the night's work Isbell sparked another drive and rounded right end for the final score.

Baer Gets $30,000 for Fighting Him

Max Baer is guaranteed $30,000 for fighting Patrick Edward Comiskey at Roosevelt Stadium, Jersey City, the week of Sept. 23. Comiskey, shown being rubbed down by his trainer, Johnny Lane, is a 19-year-old Elizabeth heavyweight with a remarkable knock-out record.

State Champs At Forge Field Sunday

Natrona's state semi-pro baseball champions will display their wares Sunday afternoon at the National Forge Field, and one of the largest crowds of the season is expected to see the speedy Natronans in action against the Irvine nine.

The titlists have just returned from Wichita, Kans., where they participated in the national tournament where they won three games before being eliminated. One of their losses was to Enid, Okla., last year's runner-up.

Tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock the Forgers will entertain Brockway which played them to a 7-7 tie in a previous meeting.

Gene Sarazen Bests Defending Champion; Hagen Loses By Fluke

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 30.—(P.)—Gene Sarazen keeps rolling along; today a handful of comparative youngsters still in the running for the 1940 professional golf championship round the veteran campaigner squarely in their path.

Sarazen didn't reach these quarter-finals by a fluke. He shot one of the greatest match rounds of his career to knock out Defending P. G. A. Champion Henry Picard yesterday.

In the 16 matches which reduced the field to eight players, none packed more brilliant golf than the Sarazen-Picard duel. There were perhaps more gallery goings around Sarazen's nearest rival, Walter Hagen, but the Haig lost and thus ended the hopes of many that these two would defy Father Time, get to Saturday's semi-finals and meet once more.

It was the young fellows with thick wrists and strong legs who survived the third round, 36-hole matches. Byron Nelson knocked out Dick Metz, the medalist, 2 and 1; Eddie Kirk conquered Art Clark, 5 and 4; Ben Hogan whipped Al Gross, 5 and 4; Ralph Guldahl pushed aside Jim Foulis, 5 and 3; Sammy Snead had a breeze with Jimmy Hines, 7 and 6; and Paul Runyan disposed of Ed Dudley, 4 and 3.

Hagen bowed to Harold (Jug) McSpaden, 1 up.

Picard, after the Sarazen match, never was more correct than when he walked off the home hole and said, "You've never had a tougher match."

Picard was three down with only three holes to go when he turned on his best golf and closed out with three successive birdies, but the last hole broke his heart. Picard was only two feet away, and Sarazen was seven feet off the pin.

Sarazen looked at the crowd, like those that followed him when he won the P. G. A. three times and the U. S. Open twice, grinned a bit and without apparently trying rapped the putt down for a deuce and the match.

Picard had the uncomfortable experience of shooting a five-under per 68 on his home course, yet losing. Sarazen had the same medal score in the second 18 holes of their 36-hole match.

Hagen looked like a success for the day at least when he led McSpaden two up at the end of the first 18 holes. In the afternoon he gave away one hole, the 13th, however, by acknowledging his club brushed McSpaden's ball in the rough, accidentally. Then he fiddled around on the 16th green for three putts.

The old master tossed in a birdie three on the 17th as his last gallant try, but McSpaden tied it, and so youth was served.

Surprise of the quarter-finals was 30-year-old Eddie Kirk of Farmington, Mich., who never has won a major tournament. He flirted with par to? beat Clark and send him back to Uniontown, Pa.

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Aug. 30.—Walter Hagen is still the top spender among the pros. Picked up $127 worth of checks, not counting tips, during the first four nights at Hershey. Jimmy Demaret was second with close to $100. Third guy (unidentified) blew himself for $4.85. Two rich Jersey Irishmen, interested in young Pat Comiskey, are Jack Kearns' angles in his new fistic ventures. Joe Berry, Notre Dame's best freshman center, has won an appointment to Annapolis and notified Elmer Layden he'll be seeing him soon from the Navy bench. The way North Carolinians are betting on Duke to beat Tennessee, you'd think they were using the Duke millions.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

After twenty years of competition between the Warren and Youngville scholastic grid teams, the Eagles will not be on the Dragons' schedule this fall. Although originally scheduled to play the opener at Youngville tonight, the two teams will pass it up for the season by mutual agreement of Coaches Leidig and Beck. The new Red and White mentor took over the reins early this week and will send his team first against Titusville at the oil town. Youngville first appeared on the local schedule in 1920 and made an auspicious start, handing the Dragons one of their three defeats that year, 9 to 6. Since then, however, it has been slim picking for the Eagles whose best effort against the Blue and White was a 0-0 tie in 1935. The Youngville lads have been shut out in all but three of the games and never have scored more than one touchdown per game against the Dragons.

So, although the reserves will play the Eagles the afternoon before Warren meets Titusville, the two teams will not square off this season and the first opponents for the Dragons will be the Lions of Erie Academy who are now in camp at Lake Chautauque. Head Coach Lowell C. Drake gave his boys their first taste of scrimmage Wednesday night in preparation for the Labor Day tussle at Russell Field and expressed himself as well pleased with the way his first team has rounded into shape. Academy's principal worry is a lack of reserve strength, but the first eleven is apparently all that was hoped for by the Lion mentor. Manross, Kramer, Schwindt and Krivonak will be in the starting backfield.

It seems that fish life is not all that suffered from the pollution of Brokenstraw last week. A Corry young man reported yesterday that he found the carcass of a doe on the bank of the creek, evidently a victim of the poison. It is possible that the game commission may join with the fish and water boards in a more extensive inquiry into the contamination of the stream which killed all fish life from the mouth of Hare creek east to a point this side of Pittsfield. Authorities are still probing the affair in the hope of running down the source of the contamination.

YEARS AGO IN SPORTS

August 30, 1920.—"Pike" Peterson, who has been pitching for Brooklyn since his release by Toronto, was sent against his "hometown" team yesterday and beat the Krusts 2 to 1. Peterson allowed eight hits and Fred Plante, on the mound for the Krusts, permitted only seven. The game signalled the reappearance in the lineup of Bobby Burns who played first in place of Paris who went behind the plate because of Sam Rasmussen's broken thumb.

August 30, 1930.—Lonnie Burch, son of Ed Burch, of Endeavor, reported to the New York Yankees on August 4. It was learned here this week, and was farmed to Chambersburg of the Blue Ridge League. The New York Evening Telegram reminds us that Lonnie's dad used to catch for Bob Shavkey when Bob the Gob was in Warren and Forest counties. Bob brought Lonnie to the Yanks and then freighted him to Chambersburg with a fine letter of recommendation to Manager Paul Krichell.

Chapman's SCOREBOARD

Riggs Hits Strokes With Utmost Confidence; McNeill Effective in Driving Duel or at Net; Kovacs Capable of Every Shot in Tennis Book

BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Service Sports Editor

SAMUEL HARDY, former international team captain, reviews the leading candidates for the men's national singles championship at Forest Hills:

Like Bryan Grant, Bobby Riggs is a great retriever, thoroughly at home on the baseline, with a deep defensive lob when hard pressed. His forehand drive, which he plays at will, is sometimes sliced, but his backhand invariably carries top spin. Both strokes are hit with the utmost confidence, unless he is opposed by some outstanding volleyer, when he hurries his delivery at some expense to accuracy.

Don McNeill is equally effective in a driving duel or at the net. He is perhaps alone of the first 10 in that respect.

FRANK KOVACS is capable of making every shot in the book and some that are not listed. His best shot is an acutely angled forehand. He has much in reserve, but lacks concentration at times.

Frank Parker relies on his steadiness from the baseline.

Velby Van Horn drives in a manner that duplicates Bill Tilden at his best. Smooth as are his ground strokes, he achieves his most formidable game at the net.

For all-round play, supported by sound driving off the ground, Elmer Cooke is easily the best of the lot.

That is a broad statement, as Bitsy Grant, just below Cooke and ranked seventh, gained his position entirely on ground stroke control. Gardnar Mulloy depends less on ground strokes than any of the others.

GILBERT HUNT'S ground stroke playing is the key to an all-court game that deserves closer study than it is given by the majority of younger players.

Joe Hunt has a fine all-round game, but is handicapped by a lack of tournament competition because of his Naval Academy schedule. Henry Prusoff's powerful drives are not all they should be because of employment of cuts, slices and topspin. His ground game with its tremendous power has carried the big Seattle player to the place he occupies.

Samuel Hardy offers his analysis as something in the way of evidence that America's leading amateurs discovered that the net attack, good and powerful as its volleying may be, is not dependable without controlled ground strokes, the foundation of high class tennis.

PIRATES TO HOLD BASEBALL SCHOOL

Pittsburgh, Aug. 30.—(P.)—Kids from the sandlots will get a chance to show whether they have any big league talent at a baseball "school" to be held at Forbes Field by the Pirates starting September 1.

In charge will be Joe Schultz, director of the club's farm system, assisted by Honus Wagner, Johnny Gooch and Leo Mackey. Boys between the ages of 17 and 24 have been invited to apply for the school, which will be limited to the first 150 qualifying.

In another announcement today the Pirates made known they have renewed their year-old working agreement with the Albany, N. Y., club of the Eastern League.

Chautauqua County Fair Opens Monday

After months of painstaking preparations the stage is set for the opening of the 1940 Chautauqua County Fair.

A full week of day and night programs will open at noon Labor Day at popular gate and grandstand prices.

In addition to a superb program of entertainment before the grandstand, in the track oval, and along the great midway, the many buildings on the grounds in Dunkirk have been crowded full of exhibits, all designed to show a cross section of Chautauqua county's way of living—on the farm, in the factories, in the home and in the school.

Every day offers a special interest.

Labor day will see the grand opening program when all the buildings will be thrown open to the public. Shortly after noon the maestro, Joseph Basile, with his famous Madison Square Garden band will strike up the opening concert. Meanwhile the nationally known O. C. Buck shows will open up along the midway with numerous novelty riding devices, games, exhibits and new side-shows of many kinds. The racing program on Monday calls for three big events, at least nine heats, with purses ranging from $300 to $500. Pat Kelly the famed bearded jockey will drive exhibition heats.

POLITICAL FORUM

Articles appearing in this department are furnished by representatives of the respective parties in Warren county and are not intended to reflect the views or opinions of the publisher.

REPUBLICAN

The New Deal seeks to confuse the issues of the campaign by accusing the Republican party of bad faith in endorsing any of the principles that the New Dealers have failed to accomplish.

The reasons for their failures are fairly obvious, though they have tried their best to divert the public's attention by raising spectres of class hatred and by uttering loud cries of emergency at every possible moment.

In the first place the New Dealers are incapable of handling the affairs of a free government. They are economic planners who have no place in their philosophy for free enterprise. The experience of the past seven and one-half years shows this, and it shows something more than this. It shows that, under the guise of social reform, these planners will stoop to any means to gain power over the American people. Their use of W. P. A. and Relief for political purposes is common knowledge. But an economic planner doesn't stop half way. He can't.

In every controversial measure that goes before congress there is the danger of political misuse so long as the New Dealers remain in Washington. The Republicans have opposed much of the so-called "must" legislation because they could see what lay under the high sounding, humanitarian titles.

Every measure of the New Dealers is, at heart, a demand for power, and whenever Congress delegates power away from the people, it is giving to the New Dealers another weapon for coercion and abuse. The American people have had seven and one-half years of lofty language and low political performance. They have the right to be suspicious.

They ought to scrutinize with the utmost care the measure now pending before Congress, the Burke-Wadsworth selective service bill. Without consideration of the arguments for or against peacetime conscription or compulsory military training, this bill should be studied from the standpoint of the powers it bestows on the president and his administrative assistants.

It gives the administration power to pick men from their jobs and their homes for compulsory training, or by declaring a certain group or a certain industry vital to the defense economy, it can pass over and excuse as it sees fit. In short, this bill gives the administration complete control of the man power of the United States.

This is the Administration that was unable or unwilling to keep the hand of political coercion out of relief. What will it do with the vast powers of selective service?

DEMOCRAT

The hundreds of thousands of farm homes which are now enjoying the comfort and convenience of access to electric power as a result of the policy of the Roosevelt administration to provide it through the Rural Electrification Administration hardly need to be told that they would never have got it from a Republican administration or that they will not possess its benefits long if the power trust candidate for President should by some miracle be elected.

Mr. Wilkie has acknowledged in a passionate utterance that privately-owned utilities and their perpetuation are his prime interest in life and the constant efforts of these enterprises to sabotage the activities of the government to bring cheap power to rural communities are striking proof of what Mr. Wilkie's first article of faith means.

Recent measures taken by the power trust to hamper and prevent rural residents of North Carolina from getting cheap electric power through government assistance are revealed by Harry Slattery, administrator of REA, in announcing allotments of funds to several North Carolina co-operatives.

"These co-operatives are trying to bring service to areas which the power companies have for years failed to serve," Mr. Slattery declared. "Even today the utilities have no intention of serving all the farmers. Instead, they are cutting up the co-operatives' territory with short spite lines. If this is not stopped it will prevent many of them from ever receiving electric service."

"Hoke County (North Carolina) farmers for years tried unsuccessfully to get service from the Carolina Power and Light Company. Finally, after they had formed a co-operative and applied to REA for a construction loan, the company hurriedly built six miles of line to cut 30 of the best farms out of their area."

"Robeson County, nearby, has been so cut up by piece-meal 'cream-skimming' construction that many farmers are hopelessly pocketed, and will probably never have electric service."

"Duke Power Company refused to serve Stokes County farmers. They formed a co-operative and signed up members. Suddenly the company built 30 miles of line in a densely-settled area near Francisville. This spite line not only deprived the co-operative of its best territory, needed to compensate for thinly-settled areas, but it also isolated farmers in the eastern end of the county."

"The Wake, Surry, Wayne, Hoke and Cumberland co-operatives are designed to serve everyone in the area, whether he owns a large and profitable farm on a main road or a few acres in back country. If the power companies build their lines to the few rich farmers, the poorer ones will have no hope of ever enjoying the benefits of electricity."

SWISS ALLIANCE PLANS MEETING

The fourth district of the North American Swiss Alliance will hold its convention here in the Liberty Club hall on Labor Day, September 2, starting at ten o'clock in the morning. Because many of the delegates will be from a distance, the entire schedule will be maintained on standard time.

The district includes Buffalo, N. Y.; Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Dover, Columbus and Toledo, O.; Detroit, Mich.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Warren, Ridgway, Pittsburgh.

Among the visitors will be members of the executive board, from New York City.

The Warren Swiss Society, of which E. J. Huggler, of Warren, is president, is sponsoring the convention and extends an invitation to all American-Swiss people in the community. Henry Huber, local secretary-treasurer, is secretary of the district organization.

There will be a dinner at one o'clock for all delegates and visitors, served in the Liberty Club hall, and, weather permitting, all will join in an outdoor picnic supper.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT WARREN GENERAL HOSPITAL

Free care was given to 316 residents of Warren borough last year by Warren General Hospital according to J. H. Alexander, president of the board.

Although the hospital cared for a total of 772 free or part pay patients during the fiscal year which ended May 31. These persons received 8,259 days of care, representing 33.2 percent of the total service of the hospital.

While the percentage of free care given during the year recently ended does not quite top the previous figure, it does mark an increase of 3.2 over the year.

A considerable amount of the free and part pay care last year was given to residents of townships surrounding Warren borough. However persons from practically every community throughout the County came under this classification also.

Communities receiving largest percentage of free and part pay care are:

Location	No. of patients	Pct.	Days Care
Youngsville	53	6.9	516
Clarendon	41	5.3	388
Tidioute	37	4.8	300
Russell	33	4.3	352
Pittsfield	26	3.4	346
Kinzua	18	2.3	253
Sugar Grove	17	2.2	133
Akeley	14	1.3	200

Both Cop Twin Bills To Decrease Margin; Vander Meer Recalled

a perfect bunt down the third base line and squeezed the winning run home.

The victory reduced the idle Indians' margin over them to 4 1/2 games.

It didn't get them any closer to second place, however, because the Tigers were busy in their own behalf, mowing down the Washington Senators in a doubleheader, 3-2 and 6-0, to advance within two games of the lead. Buck Newsom notched his 17th in the nightcap, abbreviated to six innings by darkness.

In the only other American League game, the Boston Red Sox were handed a 4-3 decision by Johnny Rigney, who walked Joe Sugar Grove with the bases loaded in the ninth.

The National League bunting has been more or less generally accorded to the Cincinnati Reds for sometime, but twofold developments yesterday came close to clinching it.

First, Harry Lavagetto, star third baseman of the second place Brooklyn Dodgers, underwent an appendectomy and, second, the Reds raided the Dodgers, 9-3. The Dodgers were helpless before the seven-hit hurling of Paul Derringer, bagging his 17th victory. This boosted the Reds 8 1/2 games in front.

After the game the champs announced the recall of Johnny (Double No-Hit) Vander Meer, effective Saturday.

The St. Louis Cardinals obtained exclusive possession of third place by shutting out the New York Giants, 5-0 and the Pittsburgh Pirates extended their winning strait to eight straight by shutting out the Phillies, 4-0. Mace Brown held the tail-enders in check until the eighth, when Danny MacFayden was rushed to duty as the Phils led off with a couple of hits.

Sailor Bill Posedel shanghaied the Chicago Cubs with five-hit pitching to give the Boston Bees a 3-1 triumph.

FIRST T. B. STAMP

First American tuberculosis stamps were issued at Wilmington, Delaware, in December, 1907. They were used to save a small hospital caring for tuberculosis patients. Miss Emily Bissell, founder of the hospital, adopted the idea after reading an article by Jacob A. Riis.
